CONSPIRACY TO DISCREDIT TAFT

Is Intimated by Ballinger and His Friends.

A PLAN TO LEAD COUNTRY TO VIEW

That Taft Has Abandoned Program of Roosevelt.

That Is the Charge Made, and It Is Also Held That the Plan Is in the Interest of a Presidential Boom for Roosevelt in 1912—Many Troubles Assail the President on His Return from Trip.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Here are some of the troubles President Taft found confronting him when he reached the White House:

Annual message to congress.

Settlement of the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy.

Selection of minister to China and ambassador to Great Britain and France.

Appointment of associate justice of the supreme court to succeed the late Justice Peckham.

Appointment of assistant secretary of commerce and labor, third assistant postmaster general, and postmaster at Washington, District of Columbia.

Investigation of customs frauds in New York.

Reorganization of the bureau system of the navy department.

Decision of question—"What is whisky?"

Morning With Family.

Tired out from his swing "around the circle," and mighty glad to be at home again, President Taft spent the greater part of this morning with his family in the White House preparatory to plunging into the grave problems that await his action.

When Mr. Taft stepped over to his new executive offices today, he found in addition to the preparation of his annual message to congress, enough work mapped out for him to keep him busy every minute for months.

Chief among the matters to be settled by the president is the so-called Ballinger-Pinchot controversy which has reached such an acute stage that it is generally believed the president can not longer continue both Ballinger and Pinchot in his official family.

A story that has gained wide circulation in the past few days in newspapers that are close to the Hitchcock element in the administration, to the effect that the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy is really but one phase of a political conspiracy that has for its object Roosevelt for president in 1912, has complicated the situation.

Mysterious Conferences.

Several mysterious cabinet conferences during the past few days at which Ballingor seems to have been the moving spirit, have given rise to the story that the members of the cabinet will call Taft's attention to the widespread and serious political aspect of the present split in the administration and ask that Pinchot's services be dispensed with in the interests of harmony.

Pinchot, who returned to Washington last night, laughs at the story of the political plot, but it is evident that the Ballinger element seriously believes it, and it is stated that the president will be impressed with this phase of the dispute and told plainly that Pinchot is trying to discredit Taft before the American people and to question his good faith in carrying out the "Roosevelt policies."

Talk of a congressional investigation into the conduct of the interior department and the general land office has been renewed and it is now regarded as certain that such an investigation will be set on foot shortly after congress convenes in December

Courts Investigation.

Ballinger is reported as saying that he courts such an investigation. His friends charge that the recent activities of L. R. Glavis in this matter were inspired directly by Pinchot.

Altogether the situation has become extremely embarrassing for the president. Should he be forced to take action against Ballinger, he would have to reverse his decision of last summer wherein he completely exonerated the secretary of the interior. Should he dismiss Pinchot, he would alienate a strong element in the West where Pinchot is exceedingly popular.

The selection of a minister to China and ambassadors to Great Britain and France are a few of the other matters awaiting the attention of the chief executive, as well as the vacancy on the supreme bench, caused by the death of Justice Peckham.

The selection of a successor to Ormsby McHarg, whose resignation as assistant secretary of commerce and labor was recently accepted, and the appointment of a third assistant postmaster general to succeed A. W. Lawshee, also call for early action. There is a vacancy, too, in the postoffice at the national capital.

Customs Frauds.

The customs frauds in New York and the effort that is being made to oust William Loeb, Jr., as collector, will help keep the president busy.

The troublesome question of reorganizing the bureau system of the navy department will come in for a share of executive attention, and to add to his burdens, there are several census supervisors for the largest cities in the country, including New York, Pittsburg and Los Angeles, that must be appointed by the president very soon so that the preliminary work of taking the census of 1910 can proceed.

The president went over to the building of the Daughters of the American Revolution at 11 o'clock, and delivered a short address at the opening of the Washington convention of Laymen's Missionary movement, and then hurried back to work.

The White House was crowded all day with visitors.

At 5 o'clock this afternoon the president will leave for a two-day trip to Hartford and Middletown, Connecticut, in compliance with promises he made last summer.

There will be no regular cabinet meeting until next Tuesday.

FACTIONS LINED UP FOR BATTLE

Contest Will Be Waged in the Middle West.

THE OPPOSITION TO CANNONISM GROWS

The Rules Not to the Liking of That Section

Senator Cummins, Invited to Washington To Confer with Taft, Says That the Tariff Is Not Wholly Satisfactory—The Matters Mentioned Will Be Threshed Out and Differences Will Be Settled.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Declaring the insurgents, or progressive Republicans, can not be driven from the party, that the principal issue in the next Republican primaries in the West will be the fight against Cannonism, and reiterating his belief that Taft will be renominated and elected after his four years as president are finished, Senator A. B. Cummins, of Iowa, leader of the senate insurgents, is here to confer with President Taft.

Cummins came on the invitation of the president, who told him that he wanted to discuss certain public questions with him before writing his message to congress.

"The tariff, the speakership, and the rules of the house, will be the issue in the Republican congressional primaries," said Senator Cummins today, "and I think that it will go to the extent where candidates for the nomination will be pledged for or against the speaker and the present rules. This will be the case in Iowa, at least, I think. But, after the Republicans have settled their differences, they will win out.

"I may be prejudiced, but I think that the new tariff law is not well received by the people in our section; but I do not believe that they want another revision. The trend of sentiment of the people in Iowa is for a tariff commission.

"There is not any doubt that the lines are being drawn definitely in Iowa and in other states in the Middle West between the stand-patters and the progressive Republicans. The discussion about the speakership, and the rules and the tariff, resolves itself into a contest between the progressives and the conservatives, and I do not believe the progressives can or will be driven out of the party."

THE STEINHEIL CASE NEARS END

Government Will Have Finished by Friday Night.

THE DEFENSE WILL SUM UP SATURDAY

Final Statement by the Accused Next Monday.

The General Feeling in Paris Is That Mme. Steinheil Will Be Declared Not Guilty of the Murder of Her Husband and Mother. The State Is Held To Have Beaten Itself.

Paris, Nov. 11.—With a flood of invective directed against Madame Steinheil, her parents and her associates, the prosecutor general this afternoon began his summarizing speech in the trial of Madame Steinheil for the murder of her husband and mother, hoping to bolster the tottering circumstantial evidence. The summary was wordy, emotional and vituperative, but it contained little that to the ordinary mind would justify the sending of the "Red Widow" to the guillotine. All of the shame of Madame Steinheil's admitted life was detailed, but no legal facts were shown to prove her guilty of the crime.

The witnesses for the defense, some twenty-five in number, were sworn today and their testimony was brief, consisting mostly in showing that Madame Steinheil could have no motive for killing her husband and mother. The last one left the stand late this afternoon, and Presiding Judge De Valles signalled the prosecutor general to begin his concluding speech.

The prosecutor general reviewed the entire life of Madame Steinheil, reviling her for her illicit relations with her various lovers and animadverting at length on her unfaithfulness to her husband, which, he said, led to the murders. He made no mention of the late President Felix Faure, although he spared none of the less noted lovers of Madame Steinheil.

At the conclusion of the session today the prosecutor announced that he will need at least four hours tomorrow to complete his summary of the case.

State Beats Itself.

Paris, Nov. 11.—"Beaten by its own witnesses," is the popular opinion voiced today of the state's case against Madame Marguerite Steinheil on trial for the murder of her husband and mother.

When the court opened today, but one witness for the prosecution remained to be examined. Not a single witness has yet testified for the defense—there are upwards of twenty-five who will do so—and yet practically all the telling points of the case have been scored by the defense, largely through the cleverness of the prisoner in outwitting and out-heckling the authorities and their witnesses during the cross-examination of the latter.

In spite of its bombast and inquisitorial methods the state has been able to build up only a tottering circumstantial case. The manner in which the widow-prisoner has withstood the bullying of the court has won her the open sympathy of the spectators and can not have been without effect on the impressionable jury.

A sensational report of yesterday that the trial would result in sweeping changes in the criminal code was authoritatively denied today.

State To Close Today.

All the witnesses for the defense are to be called before the prosecutor general begins his summarizing speech. It is expected that these will be disposed of today, and that the speech of the prosecutor general, which will undoubtedly last a whole day, will be concluded by tomorrow evening. Maitre Aubin will probably summarize for the defense on Saturday, and Madame Steinheil will then be allowed to make her final statement for which she has been making voluminous notes during the progress of the trial. That may continue the trial over until Monday although it is possible that a verdict may be returned late Saturday. That the verdict will favor Madame Steinheil is the belief of those who have watched the trial from the beginning. The clever woman has successfully either denied or nullified the points upon which the authorities built their case. The only motive which the prosecution could ascribe to Madame Steinheil for the murders was eliminated yesterday when Borderel, former lover of the widow, testified that there had never been any thought of marriage between Madame Steinheil and himself.

One Offsets the Other.

The prosecution has contended that Madame Steinheil killed her husband that she might marry Borderel. The testimony of Mariette Wolf, the Steinheil cook and confident of Madame Steinheil, almost completely offset the damaging testimony of the newspaper men who said the widow wished to commit suicide after the murders.

When Madame Steinheil took her place in court today she seemed to have all the advantage possible for successfully terminating the fight she is making to escape the guillotine.

M. Bordet, father-in-law of Madame Japy, and M. Ayres, brother-in-law of Madame Steinheil, were the opening witnesses for the defense. They testified that Madame Steinheil loved Madame Japy, and that the two women had always been happy together. A number of other unimportant witnesses gave similar testimony.

Chauffeur Semble, who, it has been charged, carried two fares to the Steinheil house in the Impasse Ronsin the night of the crime, took the stand and categorically denied the charge, saying that he had not entered the Impasse Ronsin on that night. Conan, a man servant at the Steinheil home testified that the mythical "Aunt Lily," named by Madame Steinheil, in explaining her visits to Vert Logis and in explaining the large sums of money with which she was furnished, was not a woman, but a man.

STILL NO WORD FROM JAMAICA

All Communication Beyond Santiago Cut Off.

GRAVE FEARS FOR SHIPS IN WATERS

About the West Indian Islands Entertained.

It Is Not Thought Possible That a Hurricane, No Matter How Severe, Would Be Able To Cut Off Cable Communication Between Jamaica and the Other Islands from the Rest of the World.

New York, Nov. 11.—Grave concern is felt in shipping circles here today over the continued absence of definite information concerning the hurricane which cut off communication with West Indian points south of Santiago, Cuba.

Companies with ships plying West Indian waters have been unable to communicate with them by wireless. This is declared to be due to the severe rainstorm which was reported before the cable companies announced that they were unable to reach Jamaica.

The Commercial Cable company today issued the following notice:

"All points beyond Santiago, Cuba, are cut off."

The Western Union Cable company is accepting messages for points beyond Santiago subject to forwarding by mail from that point.

It is generally believed that no hurricane, however violent, could have seriously impaired the cable service, and it is accepted as the general theory that an earthquake or some volcanic disturbance under the sea will be reported when communication is restored.

AN ELECTRICIAN IS ELECTROCUTED

At a Power-House in the City of Columbus.

Columbus, O., Nov. 11.—Christian Judy, forty-five, Canal Winchester, an electrician, was electrocuted at the Scioto Valley power-house today by current carried through a common linen tape line.

During the night, Judy and a force of men had been raising the high tension wires higher from the ground while the current was off. Judy and F. A. True were measuring the distance of the wires from the ground Thursday, True holding the tape line to the wire by means of a wooden stick while Judy held the other end at the ground. When the tape line touched the high tension wire, Judy fell unconscious, and died.

A BANK CASHIER SHOT TO DEATH

By Well-Dressed Young Man at New Albany.

BANK PRESIDENT BADLY WOUNDED

And Taxicab Driver Is Shot Through Body.

Youth, Becoming Frightened, Runs Out of Bank to the River—Is Captured by Party of Shantyboat People—Poison Story Is Sprung To Save Him—Rescued from Mob and Placed in Jail.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 11.—Cashier Hangary Fawcett was shot and instantly killed, and President J. K. Woodward, of the Merchants' National bank, of New Albany, Indiana, was shot several times and badly wounded, at noon today, by a stylishly-dressed young man.

James Tucker, negro chauffeur of Mrs. Walter Escott, who was impressed into service by the youth, was shot through the body because he did not drive the auto with sufficient speed.

New Albany is across the Ohio river from Louisville. There were only a few people in the bank when a young man in a big touring car drove up in front of the bank and entered. He was smoking a cigaret, and in his right hand he carried a gun. He ordered everybody in the bank to throw up their hands and without waiting for the command to be obeyed, he began firing right and left.

The first bullet struck Cashier Fawcett and he fell mortally wounded. He died in a few minutes. President Woodward, who was in his office, rushed out to see what the trouble was, and received a bullet in the breast as he opened the door. He made for the youth, but fell exhausted.

Force Drops Behind Desks.

The remainder of the force in the bank was by this time completely cowed and they dropped behind the desks in the bank.

It is not known as yet whether the intruder got any money. When he saw that he had killed the cashier, he evidently became frightened, as he darted out the door and ran like a deer toward the river. He came from Louisville in an automobile.

Officers following him soon effected his capture.

A mob was formed and threatened to take the man, but the officers, telling the mob he had taken poison and was dying, succeeded in forcing their way through the mob and safely landed their prisoner in the jail.

Forced To Walk Ahead.

Chauffeur Walter Tucker, employed by a Louisville taxicab company, was shot in the body by the man. When the automobile stopped in the rear of the bank, the negro was forced at the point of a revolver, to enter the bank ahead of the man.

Only Fawcett, Woodward, George Newhouse, the assistant cashier, and a negro porter were in the bank at the time, but the porter and Newhouse escaped injury.

After firing twenty shots, the man broke and ran out through the rear door and towards the river. When he reached the bank of the river, he found a small flatboat into which he jumped. After he had pushed off from the bank, a crowd of persons who had been attracted by the firing, reached the water's edge, but were unable to follow him. The men yelled to a number of men in shantyboats on the Kentucky side, who, armed with shotguns, captured the man as he stepped from the boat to the shore.

When searched, four revolvers were found on him, each one of which was empty.

Young Is Acquitted.

Youngstown, O., Nov. 11.—L. H. Young, contractor, among the sixteen former Mahoning county officials and contractors indicted on graft charges, was acquitted Thursday. The jury deliberated nineteen hours. Young was the first of those indicted. Eight others pleaded guilty.

Waiter Remembered.

Xenia, O., Nov. 11.—William Honley, negro waiter, has received a check for $2,000 for caring for an elderly traveling salesman who was taken seriously ill at the hotel at which he is employed.

FOUR DEAD AND ONE MORE DYING

As a Result of a Feud in San Francisco Chinatown.

San Francisco, Nov. 11. Special details of police were sent into Chinatown today to prevent the continuation of a war between the members of the Yee family and the On Yick Tong, which has already claimed the lives of four Chinese, with a fifth probably dying.

Three victims were claimed last night and early today as the result of this feud. They are Ow Yang Gun, of the On Yicks, who was shot down in Chinatown here; Jin Kong Fook, fatally wounded in Oakland early today, and an unknown Chinese who was murdered at Mountainview late last night.

The war followed the elopement of a member of the Yee family with Be Gue, wife of an On Yick Tong member. Shortly after this the On Yicks waylaid two members of the Yee family and murdered them. The Yees held a secret meeting and vowed to take the lives of six On Yicks in revenge and last night's outbreak is believed to be the direct result of this vow.

AUTO OF ITALIAN DUCHESS IS STONED

Great Aunt of King Emmanuel Has an Experience.

Turin, Nov. 11.—A party of men hidden in the trees along the road from Stressa to Turin today stoned the automobile of Elizabetta, duchess of Genoa, great aunt of King Emmanuel. The chauffeur, by putting on high speed, succeeded in getting out of range before any damage further than the smashing of the windows of the automobile had been done. The duchess was uninjured.

BIG WIRE TRUST SEEKS CONTROL

Of Telegraph and Telephone Lines of Country.

THAT IS RUMOR IN INDIANAPOLIS

Following Telephone Purchases by Brailey.

The Organization Is Said To Be Worked Through the Bell People. The Postal Is Working for the Bell Interests and Brailey Is the Representative of the Postal in the Matter.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 11.—Following the announcement that James S. Brailey, Jr., the Ohio independent telephone promoter, had secured possession of seventy-five per cent. of the stock of the new long-distance telephone company here, comes the rumor here today that a great "wire trust" is being organized throughout the country by which the telegraph and telephone facilities of the country are being brought under one control.

According to the rumor current here, the organization is being effected through the Bell Telephone company, the Bell working through the Postal Telegraph company and the Postal through Brailey. There is supposition in some quarters that the people engineering the deal are in reality the Mackays, who are operating through the Bell rather than through their own, the Postal.

Those Interested.

It is stated on good authority that the Gould family, the Russell Sage estate and John T. Terry hold their Western Union holdings mounting to something like sixty-five per cent. of the stock to the Bell in September and it is also said that other suspicious stock deals have been made between the Bell, the Western Union, and the Postal recently.

From New York reports have come that the original intention was that the Bell should buy up, through the Western Union, the independents in Indiana, Ohio, and other states which command the situation, but since the news of the deal got out, it was impossible for the Western Union to be used as a decoy, but instead the Postal was substituted with Brailey as the agent.

Nearly a Million Shrinkage.

Columbus, O., Nov. 11. - The quarterly report of State Treasurer D. S. Creamer and Auditor of State E. M. Fullington, made to Governor Harmon today, shows a shrinkage in the surplus of $982,802.25, as compared with the ending of the corresponding surplus last year.

IS BEATEN OUT OF $65,000,000

Uncle Sam Defrauded in That Enormous Sum

BY THE GREAT SUGAR TRUST

According to the Figures of District Attorney.

Attorney General Wickersham States That the Government Has No Intention of Abandoning the Pursuit of the Sugar Trust—Its Only Way of Escape Is by Some Legal Technicality Now Unknown.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Attorney General Wickersham denies that the government has abandoned its pursuit of the sugar trust. He said today that he still hoped to recover at least a part of the large sums which the trust has been charged with defrauding the customs revenues for the last twenty years and perhaps to put some of the responsible officials behind the penitentiary bars. He has already made the trust disgorge $2,250,000 in one case and $135,000 in another, and unless obstructed by some legal technicality, such as the statute of limitations, he expects to recover more.

Officials at both the department of justice and the treasury department read with great interest the long arraignment of the trust methods published in the New York Sun today. They were already conversant with the facts presented because they were part of the evidence collected by the government upon which it based its suit for the weighing frauds on the docks at New York and which resulted in the fining of the sugar trust $135,000. That amount was a compromise, based, it is declared, upon the exact amount of revenue that it could be proved the government had lost through the false weighing. Although it was suspected that the actual stealings were much greater than this—in fact, District Attorney Stimson put it at about $65,000,000 within the last three years—yet it is said that actual proof existed only to the amount of $135,000.

Couldn't Clinch Suspicions.

Treasury officials admit that they had known for some time of irregularities in the New York customs house, but say that it is a mistake to charge that they have been indifferent to it. Frequent efforts have been made to uncover the frauds which it was known existed. In 1906, a committee of three of the most responsible officers of the department was sent to New York to make a thorough investigation into the charges that had been made of crookedness. They spent weeks in making a searching inquiry and came back to Washington empty-handed. The organization of the crooked gang was so complete that it was able to cover up its tracks and hide its wrongdoings from the investigators.

It was not until some of the insiders turned reformers, with the understanding that they should not be punished, that the department was able to get a line upon the workings of the gang. So far the results have been merely to secure the punishment of some of the smaller employes of the custom house and some importers.

But treasury officers state that this is only the beginning, and that before long there will be some startling developments which will involve men considerably more important than mere weighers.

Miss Pelley left the store in company with a lady friend Miss Ella Dolan They walked up Commercial avenue to the home of her friend and there she left Miss Dolan Miss Dolan was the last known person to see Miss Pelley alive Miss Pelley probably then boarded the Washington avenue car as was her usual practice She carried her weekly wages in her purse and a bundle of dress goods These were untouched which points to the fact that the attack was made for assault and not robbery She was gagged and her clothes were torn into shreds

Mayor Parsons after consulting with members of the police placed bloodhounds on the trail They were scented with the gag taken from Miss Pelley's lips and put on the trail The dogs at once took the scent, finally stopping at a vacant house

At Twelfth and Poplar streets the mob was met by the chief of police who snatched the mask off one man's face He talked earnestly to the men in the crowd telling them the evidence against James was purely circumstantial The crowd melted away

The mute testimony of two sets of bloodhound which seven times followed a trail from the alley where the nude mangled body of Anna Pelley a white girl was found to a little tumbledown house in the negro quarter has given the police the best clue they have yet discovered A number of arrests followed the trailing of the bloodhound the chief among them being James a giant in stature who admits to the police that at 6:30 Monday evening he was in the house to which the dog led the way A woman named Green and who lived in the rear of the house is also held

Other Arrests

Arthur Alexander and Samuel Mosby who formerly lived in the house were also arrested

The fifth person arrested is Georgia Cooper a woman whose home James was known among his friends as Frog and was examined carefully by the police It is said by the police that his underwear was washed out by the Cooper woman during the night and that the Green woman when arrested after James had been taken to jail was washing out a piece of cloth which tallied exactly with the cloth with which Miss Pelley was gagged

Bloodhounds from Harrisburg Illinois which were put on the trail today not only followed the same trail from the scene of the murder of the negro but that the other hounds had followed but went only to the jail where they jumped against the bars of James cell and howled

Miss Pelley a country girl who came to Cairo from Anna Illinois a few months ago Her movements have been carefully traced by the police She was only three doors from her own home when attacked The handle of her umbrella was found at this point It had either been broken off as she struck at her assailant or he grabbed it broke off the handle and threw it into the yard there

The importance of a really important man doesn't show on the surface

LUMINOUS WAVES ROLL TOWARD HER

They Are Covered with the Faces of the Dead

Mrs Maude Kissam Babcock Accuses Mrs Augusta I Stetson of an Attempt To Mentally Assassinate Her—Sees the Blue Eye of Mrs Stetson All Around Room Husband Feels Effect

New York Nov 10—Mrs Maude Kissam Babcock a former student and Christian Science practitioner under Mrs Augusta I Stetson of the First church in this city insists that Mrs Stetson tried to mentally assassinate her because she opposed Mrs Stetson's sway in this city Her evidence against the New York leader is now in the possession of the church authorities in Boston

Mrs Babcock insists that she gave all of an independent fortune she inherited to the cause She resigned from the local church a year ago and appealed to the Boston authorities for aid They summoned her to Boston and there she told her experience

Following a quarrel with Mrs Stetson, the latter she declared opposed her in every way She then told the following graphic story of her mental assassination

After an interview with Mrs Stetson I returned to my home in Cedarhurst I went to bed and to sleep

Awakened by Blast

At midnight I was awakened by a icy blast sweeping through the open window from New York My teeth chattered My heart fluttered Luminous waves rolled toward me covered with the faces of the dead I felt just like a man being electrocuted It seemed indeed that my soul went out from my body that I saw through the walls of the house And in this hour of agony I saw Mrs Stetson's blue eyes all around the room

I tottered from the bed and got my testament Opening it I chanced upon the fifteenth chapter of St John beginning I am the vine ye are the branches and falling on my knees I began to read it aloud

Staggering to the bath room I drew a tub of foaming hot water and got into it I could not feel the temperature of the water I realized that I was warring not against flesh and blood But against principalities against powers against the rulers of the darkness of this world against spiritual wickedness in high places

Saved by Love

Impersonal ever present omnipotent love bore me up beyond the reach of the would be midnight mental assassin the human hatred of truth the mad ambition for personal place and power

Still shivering from that boiling bath I stooped about for the most elaborate physical exercise I could find and pushed the needle to and fro while my parched lips muttered God is all God is good Nothing can harm me And I sat there until my husband tiptoed up the stairs and into the room

My God he exclaimed what is the matter with me Coming out on the train I felt that I was going to die I am suffocating We succumbed over lies through the night by reading the Bible

When some time afterward I asked Mrs Stetson why this dreadful thing had happened to me she said

All smoke you become you lifted your voice to Christ the holy one in Israel meaning Mrs Eddy but I bitterly denied this irreverence and low Mr Eddy beyond all human beings

Mr Bates talks that though he gave everything he possessed to Mrs Stetson he was retained when he left Boston for all She is now a practitioner in the city

War Is Started

Boston Nov 10 Officially The Hub declares that the war between the mother church and the Christian Science church the trustees of the mother church of the cult issued a statement declaring that she and her two sons—one adopted had effected a compromise by which Mrs Eddy will be free to leave her wealth to whom she chooses

This settlement comes as the conclusion of long and bitter litigation in the course of which Mrs Eddy was forced to submit to an examination of her sanity

SERIOUS ACCIDENT TO LOCK AT SOO

Steamer Runs into the Upper Gate and Wrecks It

Sault Ste Marie Mich Nov 10—Only by chance was a wreck of the American locks in the canal here which would have been probably more serious than the wreck of the Canadian lock this summer avoided today when the big freighter Ellwood crashed into the upper gate of the Poe locks on the American side Had the Ellwood struck the lower gates instead of the upper the accident would have been extremely serious

The Ellwood had entered the canal preparatory to locking down and in trying to avoid a collision with the steamer Hecker and tug owning the latter towing two barges smashed the upper gate As the lower gate had been closed there was no great rush of water through the lock

Canal officials are investigating the damage The lock may be out of commission the rest of the season

OLD CONTROVERSY AGAIN REVIVED

By Death of Claimant to Invention of Revolving Turret

New York, Nov 10—The old controversy as to who really invented the revolving turret which first came into use on the civil war ship, Monitor and is now used on every fighting ship in the world, is revived today following the death last night of Theodore R Timby who claimed the discovery Time has accorded the honor to John Ericsson, the Swedish inventor For forty years Timby has fought for recognition and often filed a claim of $700,000 against the government for the use of his alleged invention He also claimed to have invented the device that points big guns by electricity Timby declared that Ericsson paid him only $10 000 for the turret idea Timby invented and sold at great profit a floating drydock a system of coast defense and a turbine wheel But he cared little for the inventions He especially desired to be recognized as the inventor of the turret

TO PUT IT UP TO CONGRESS

That Is the Plan of Secretary Ballinger,

TO BE FOLLOWED IN HIS REPORT

Conservation Will Be One of the Big Problems

Ballinger Would Have Congress Determine How Water-Power Sites and Coal Lands Shall Be Handled—Matter One for Legislative Branch of the Government and Not for the Executive

Washington Nov 10—Although Secretary of the Interior Ballinger is still working on his forthcoming report to congress which will be the first that he has made since he entered the cabinet the United Press is able to outline some of the more important features of that portion of the report dealing with the disposition of water power sites and coal lands These are the questions around which has raged the Pinchot Ballinger controversy that has so disturbed President Tafts official family

From present indications the policy of conservation of the country's natural resources will be one of the big problems before congress at the coming session and Ballinger has some important recommendations to make on this subject

The secretary will take the ground in his report that it is for congress to decide upon the proper methods of conserving these resources He will emphasize the statement that where withdrawals of public lands has been made during the eight months of his administration were ordered simply as a temporary measure to prevent monopoly until congress could have time to act He will give a detailed list of water power sites that have been withdrawn by his order making a total much greater he will declare than those withdrawn by his predecessor in the last days of the Roosevelt administration He will call attention to the desirability of preventing the monopolization of these sites but will pass up to congress further responsibility in the matter

A National Policy

A national policy of dealing with the coal deposits of the West so as to allow the consolidation of several claims and permit the development of coal lands by corporations which are excluded under the present law will be another recommendation by Ballinger, it is understood

Conservation by law and not by executive action will be the keynote of Secretary Ballinger's report which will deal exhaustively with the legal principles underlying his action since he has been the guardian of the public domain and which will be in a sense a defense of his attitude which has aroused so much criticism for the Roosevelt conservationists The secretary will argue that the executive branch of the government has no right to withhold land from settlement in the absence of specific authorization from congress It is stated today by well informed persons that Ballinger has the support of President Taft in the attitude and that the president's message to congress will probably deal with the subject in the same manner Bills are already on the congressional calendar calling for a complete revocation of all withdrawal of public lands—notably one by Congressman Smith of California prohibiting the withdrawal of lands by the executive without legislative sanction and one by Senator Guggenheim of Colorado granting outright rights of way for power lines dams and canals throughout all the public domain

OCCULT POWER TO BE TESTED

Celebrated Spirit Medium of Italy Baffles Experts

EVERYBODY KEPT GUESSING BY HER

Does Some Stunts Far Out of Ordinary.

While Mouth and Nostrils Are Under Control, a Breeze Issues from a Seat on Her Forehead with Sufficient Force To Fan a Small Flag—Calls Up Spirits During Voyage

New York Nov 11—To undergo a series of tests by experts in psychical phenomena is the purpose of the visit of Eusapia Palladino the celebrated spirit medium of Italy who has for years puzzled the scientists of Europe

She came over through the efforts of Hereward Carrington who went to Italy some months ago to investigate on his own behalf and was so interested that he thought the people of this country should see the woman

Eusapia Palladino perhaps would not have come to the United States but for Mr Carrington's skepticism For years his business has been finding out just how much of a medium persons claiming to be such were

Palladino is so good according to Mr Carrington that if she is not the real thing she has been able to deceive practically sharp men In fact one reading this article would be almost convinced that considerable doubt in the mind of Mr Carrington himself was dispelled before he got through with his observations

He tells about a scar on Eusapia's head from which blows a cool breeze so strong that a tiny bit of paper flag was whipped about its staff And all the time that breeze was blowing the mouth and nostrils of the medium were stopped and the investigators were holding their breath Mr Carrington however admits that the seances did not take place without a break

The medium got a little notice on board the ship as she came over and those who came in contact with her and the spirits that she called from the vasty deep won't soon forget She gave three distinct seances on the steamer and so astonished some of her fellow passengers that they just had to tell about it while the customs men went through their baggage Mr Carrington was aboard the ship at the time

Eusapia's terms are pretty high and 15 seances were about all the subscribers thought they were willing to pay for until after they had seen just what she is like Professor J H Hyslop said 15 seances would not be enough to convince him

She couldn't convince me in less than 200 he said but it would take $50 000 to have that sort of a test and there is not enough money at hand What we really need is an endowment

Professor Hyslop is contributing the stenographer who will take notes at the seances and later on he will attend some of them himself

Two Explosions Follow Attempt To Light Fire

When Fire in Kitchen Stove Fails To Burn Nels Johnson, of Near Warroad Pours Oil on Kindling Three-Gallon-Can Explodes — Of Seven Children in House at Time Only Two Escape

Warroad Minn, Nov 10—Couriers are riding through the surrounding country and up across Lake of the Wood for sixty miles into the interior to prevent such appalling losses of life as occurred four miles south of here early yesterday by a gasoline explosion in the farm dwelling of Nels Johnson

It is believed that fluid sold in Warroad for kerosene was mixed with gasoline by accident, the use of which by Johnson to start his kitchen fire caused death and cremation of his wife and five children and low death for himself from burns

Johnson was trying to kindle the fire in a heater, and the fire first started having died out he poured on what he supposed was kerosene from a three gallon can

Explosions Follow

An explosion followed immediately followed by another when the contents of the can were blown into every part of the room enveloping the entire house in flames

The family consisted of the father and mother and eight children all of whom were in the house except the eldest son, and when the conflagration started all were in bed except the father

The oldest daughter fifteen years old who with a younger sister, five was sleeping up stairs saved herself and her sister by jumping from the second story window with slight injuries

The mother and the remaining five children were all sleeping down stairs and the fire spread so rapidly that in less than twenty minutes they were cremated Johnson will die

MONO-RAIL LINE LATEST MARVEL

Gyroscope Railway Will Go Like the Wind.

THE FIRST TRIAL IS SATISFACTORY

Speed of 150 Miles an Hour Is Attained.

English Inventor's Device Is a Worthy Rival of the Aeroplane. Will Largely Reduce the Cost of Construction and Otherwise Revolutionize the Railway Service If It Is Given Application.

London, Nov. 11.—The first test of the new gyroscope principle for railway service over a monorail, by its inventor, Louis Brennan, proved highly satisfactory.

It consists of a car 40 feet long, 10 feet wide and 13 feet high, weighing 22 tons, mounted on a single rail, running freely about curves of all sorts and angles, carrying 40 passengers as safely and with vibration far less than the ordinary passenger car

The vehicle runs in a circle on eighth of a mile in circumference, at a speed of 25 miles an hour, with 80-horsepower, without the slightest tendency to leave the rail. Two gyroscopes, weighing three-quarters of a ton each, automatically supply perfect stability. The rail closely resembles the ordinary rail except that the top is somewhat curved and the rims of the wheels correspond to this curve. The gyroscopes make 30,000 revolutions a minute in vacuum. The motive power is entirely self-contained in a petrol engine used to drive the dynamo.

The first public demonstration on a full scale was on grounds of the war office near Chatham, and those present witnessed a spectacle as marvellous and as revolutionary from the standpoint of transportation as that which aeroplanes have furnished during the past two years.

Mr. Brennan explained that he finds the efficiency of the new principle in a full-sized car far greater proportionately than in the model. He is convinced that the monorail will soon revolutionize railroad transportation. With vehicles double and treble present size, a speed of 150 miles an hour can be attained with greater safety than 60 miles an hour under present transportation conditions.

This exhibition was given earlier than was planned, owing to an announcement that a German experimenter intended to demonstrate a similar application of the gyroscope principle in Berlin. Mr. Brennan immediately decided that no rival should be allowed to display the practical application of his device in advance of the original inventor. The car exhibited at Berlin is only 10 feet long, having the shape of a small motor boat. It ran slowly around the hall in the zoological garden.

Tests during the past six weeks have demonstrated that the invention will make large reduction in cost of construction and effect great economy in operation over the ordinary railroad: It also gives increased safety at high speed, which is limited only by the power available for overcoming wind pressure, which, when a car is moving over 100 miles an hour, becomes an important factor. Recent American tests proved that the limit of safety on two rails is a little over 75 miles an hour, owing to the rapid increase in oscillation and tendency of wheels to climb the rails.

The present car was built under a subsidy from the government of India, and is designed principally for experimental purposes. The tests already made indicate that the size and weight of the gyroscopes are much greater than necessary, while the stability of the car far exceeds the calculations. The vehicle is mounted on four wheels. The machinery is contained in a cablike structure in the front portion of the car, in order to be easy of access, but for future cars it will be located beneath the floor. Great speed is impossible on the present line, on account of limited length of track.

BODY OF MAN IS FOUND IN CANAL

The Police of Dayton Scent Murder Mystery.

Dayton, O., Nov. 10.—The body of an unknown man was dragged from the canal at Webb street, and the police will investigate the theory of foul play. The man was cut about the head and his face mutilated. At first the body was identified as that of "Monk" Fronk, dairy employe, but later Fronk was found to be alive. The boyd was found close to the shore by a passerby. The biggest evidence of murder is the condition of the rear of the man's head The skull is crushed as though struck by a blunt instrument.

THE PRINCE ALBERT IN THE MAJORITY

Six to Two Against Swallowtail for Receiving Presidents.

Washington, Nov. 11.—The "Prince Albert" wins! Hereafter a frock coat, striped trousers, gray tie and silk hat will be considered the proper attire in which to greet a returning president any time he arrives.

Of the eight cabinet members who met President Taft at the union station last night, six wore Prince Alberts. The other two, Secretary Nagel and Postmaster General Hitchcock—were garbed in full evening dress.

Thus the mystery of last Monday night's special meeting of the cabinet is dispelled. Instead of arriving at any definite conclusion on this important subject, there was apparently a deadlock, and it was left to each individual member to choose his own attire.

OFFICIAL REPORT OF CROPS OF THE STATE

Estimates Given as to the Various Products.

GLOOMY PROSPECT FOR WHEAT REPORTED

The Area Seeded Is Barely Above That of the Last Year and Ohio Can Not, Under the Most Favorable Conditions, Hope for a Normal Crop—Corn Prospects Good.

The following report indicates the acreage and condition of the crops named, as computed from the returns received from the official crop and livestock correspondents of the department of agriculture of the state:

Wheat, area sown last fall as returned by township assessors, 1,711,047 acres; sown this fall compared with last year, 101 per cent; estimated area seeded for the harvest of 1909, 1,721,030 acres; condition compared with an average, 83 per cent.; average date of seeding, September 27.

Alfalfa, area in 1908 as returned by township assessors, 16,236 acres; area compared with last year, 95 per cent.; estimated area in 1909, 15,518 acres; total tons produced an acre from all cuttings, 3; total estimated product for 1909, 48,927 tons; number of cuttings this year, three.

Rye, area sown last fall as returned by township assessors, 58,376 acres; sown this fall compared with last year, 91 per cent; estimated area seeded for the harvest of 1910, 53,269 acres; condition compared with an average, 87 per cent.

Corn, prospect compared with an average, 90 per cent.

Buckwheat, prospect compared with an average, 87 per cent.

Cloverseed, prospect compared with an average, 48 per cent.

Potatoes, area planted as returned by township assessors, 132,013 acres; average product an acre, 94 bushels; total estimated product for 1909, 12,371,015 bushels; affected by rot, 2 per cent.

Hogs, condition compared with an average, 94 per cent.; number to be fattened compared with 1908, 76 per cent.

Commercial fertilizers, on what per cent. of wheat ground used, 65 per cent.

Ohio's wheat area for the 1910 harvest, as estimated by the official correspondents of this department, shows but a small increase over the original area sown for the harvest just past, being reported at 1,721,030 acres, as against 1,711,047 acres last year. The area seeded is such that even though the yield an acre should be far above an average, Ohio can not hope to produce a normal crop. The condition of the growing plant is estimated at eighty-three per cent., compared with an average. Early sown wheat is in a promising condition, but a greater part of the area was seeded late and on many fields the plant is just appearing above ground, while reports of its poor condition are general over the state. Cool weather has seriously retarded its growth, and should we have an early winter there is grave danger that the plant will not have attained sufficient strength and growth to withstand its rigors.

The statistics on alfalfa show that the total estimated production this year was 12,134 tons in excess of the crops of 1908. The average number of cuttings and the average production per acre are the same as reported last year.

The area seeded to rye is estimated at 53,269 acres, ninety-one per cent. in comparison with the area seeded for the 1907 harvest.

Corn prospects show an improvement of three per cent. during the past month, being estimated at ninety per cent. compared with an average. While some correspondents report that the crop is not husking out as well as anticipated, the results generally as to quality and quantity are most satisfactory, and the total production will exceed that of last year.

The total production of potatoes for the state is estimated at 12,371,015 bushels. Compared with last year this is an increase of approximately three million bushels.

Washington, Nov. 10.—An aggregate production two per cent. greater than last year and nine per cent greater than the ten-year average is the estimate made by the agricultural department of the crops of 1909

For corn the department estimates that the crop is 2,767,316,000 bushels; winter wheat 432,920,000; spring wheat, 291,848,000. The figures for the preceding year were:

Mr. Woods had been ill for some time, suffering of Bright's disease and complications. His death is directly ascribed to paralysis. Funeral services were held in Springfield, Sunday morning. His wife survives him. Mr. and Mrs. Woods, during their residence in Richwood, were engaged in the restaurant business for several years. Then the former was elected to the office of village marshal. After the expiration of his term of office he was employed by W. H. Conboy, later moving to Springfield.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the M. E. church held a very interesting meeting, Thursday afternoon, in the church parlors. After a short business session in which Mrs. S. W. Van Winkle was elected secretary, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Joseph Embrey, the time was devoted to the program. Mrs. E. R. Graham gave an exceedingly interesting talk on "The Gospel in Latin Lands." At the close of Mrs. Graham's remarks lunch was served. REASON GIVEN FOR ROOSEVELT CANARD

Circulated by a Stock Jobbing Concern.

Washington, Nov. 11.—That the now famous Roosevelt canard—the wild rumor of the death of the ex-president, in Africa, which swept over the country last week—was first given circulation for ulterior purposes by a stock jobbing concern, is the opinion entertained here by two or three government sources, after a careful investigation of the matter.

Just who was responsible for the rumor no one here has been able to ascertain. Secretary Carpenter, representing the president, the state department and the Smithsonian institute have all been inquiring into the affair.

It is pointed out, in support of the theory that the rumor was deliberately started to influence a particular line of stocks and that the story apparently originated at a time when authoritative confirmation or denial was out of the question for at least several hours.

TWO VESSELS COLLIDE AT SEA

All but Two Members of Both Crews Are Drowned.

New York, Nov. 10.—There has been no swifter tragedy of the placid seas than the foundering in Block Island sound of the Nova Scotian barkentine John S. Bennett. Of the ship's company of nine, only two were saved. They are Filipinos, whose knowledge of English and seamanship is so limited that they can merely hint at the actual nature of the wreck and its causes. They were picked up from a broken dory by boats from the American schooner William Jones, Captain Bullock, which landed them here.

From what could be learned from the two survivors and the yarns of Captain Bullock and his brother, Wilbur Bullock, mate of the Jones not only all the white men of the Bennett were lost, but also the entire crew of a four-masted American schooner which was in collision with the barkentine.

TAFT PLEASED WITH HIS TRIP

Given Glad Hand Upon Return to Capital.

SOME HARD WORK NOW FACES HIM

Breaks All Records for Presidential Journeyings.

Also Does Some Stunts in a Gastronomic Way—Samples All the Provincial Dishes and Returns in About as Good Condition as When He Started—He Travels Through Thirty-Three States.

Washington, Nov. 11. — President Taft was given the glad hand of welcome when he reached Washington at the end of his 13,000 mile journey. He was gone 56 days, during which time he visited 33 states, two territories, and stepped across the border into Mexico.

Besides the 13,000 miles the president covered by train, he made 962 miles in automobiles and 165 miles in stages and carriages. He made 270 speeches, an average of about five a day. As a gastronomic feat the president has one of the greatest to record. He partook of 579 formal breakfasts, luncheons and dinners.

He didn't cut a single function and ended the trip with his digestion just as good as it ever was. On the trip he tackled about every kind of a dish the United States boasts and a few of Mexico's. He ate cub bear in Washington; codfish in Boston; chili-concarne in El Paso; 'possum in Georgia; the peedee pine-bark stew of South Carolina and the stewed terrapin of Savannah, not to mention biscuits, hoecake, puffs and grits.

President Taft expressed the opinion that his long trip would be of great value to him throughout the remainder of his administration. He declared he familiarized himself with the needs of the south in a way he never could have done under other circumstances. He feels that the process of assimilation on his part has only begun, and it is his intention to confer from time to time with congressmen from different parts of the country for the sole purpose of enlarging the impressions gained on his tour.

The president is particularly pleased with his receptions in the south, which, he believes, indicate confidence in him and a disposition on the part of the south to met him more than half way in carrying out his southern policy.

Referring to his long trip the president said in one of his four speeches at Richmond: "The fact that has impressed itself upon me from beginning to end is the spirit of hopefulness, of contentment, of energy and of enterprise that there is in every corner of this great country."

"I am very glad to get back," he said; "it was about Aug. 6 when I left Washington. I am glad to get back in just about as good condition as when I left."

Official Greetings.

A committee representing the chamber of commerce, headed by its president, William F. Gude, pressed forward, and Mr. Gude told how glad the members of the chamber were that Mr. Taft was back again. The response was brief and informal.

Only a few minutes were spent by Mr. Taft in the president's room. Then he went to the White House, where Mrs. Taft was waiting for him.

The president realizes that a lot of hard work was facing him at the White House. "A mountain of work" was the way he referred to it.

Secretary Meyer submitted to the president his plans for the reorganization of the navy department. The secretary has been working on these plans in conjunction with the board of naval reorganization several months. The president approved the plans and they will be made public in a few days.

One of the first things he will take up will be the selection of an associate justice of the supreme court to fill the place left vacant by the death of Rufus W. Peckham, but he will not make this appointment until after congress has convened.

Several diplomatic appointments, including a successor to Charles R. Crane, who was recalled from his post in Peking before he got there, await the president's attention, but Mr. Taft said no new appointments will be made until after Jan. 1.

Big Steel Mill.

Pittsburg, Nov. 11.—The McClintock Marshall construction company, the biggest rival of the American Bridge company, or construction end of the United States Steel corporation, announced the purchase of 50 acres of land at Indiana Harbor, Ind., and its intention to erect there one of the largest structural and fabricating mills in the United States. About $2,000,000 will be spent on the project.

Professor Ferrer is said to have drowned his daughters and left his estate to a woman friend and an anarchist associate. King Alfonso may have been a trifle hasty in putting that cabinet out of business.

Former Treasurer Warriner of the Big Four says he is glad his sins have found him out. The repeated statements of embezzlers to this effect should in time bear weight with the fellow who is on the verge of going wrong. That old saying—"Honesty is the best policy"—is not an idle dream.

Had Peary realized that those words were worth $1.19 each, it's doubtful if he would have thrown them around so promiscuously at the time of his journey homeward.

There are people who see no merit in the discovery of the pole, yet had it not been for its discovery we might never have heard of the Geographical Society of America.

All those medals go to Athens and not a single one for the sage. And think of all the scorn "Ole Figgers" has stood, year after year, until the votes were counted and his predictions for the guidance of the betting fraternity justified. Too bad, too bad!

There is a lot of discussion of the subject, "Why Do Women Marry?" Perhaps the best and truest answer is: "Because they want to."

From what we read, we judge that Halley's comet is coming this way faster than the millennium.

"A frigid, calculated lie," says Mr. Balfour. Now we know the Bwana Tumbo of Great Britain

There's no denying that it would help some should Mr. Taft, in his Thanksgiving proclamation, point out some method for acquiring the turkey.

Mayor-Elect McCarthy says he's going to make San Francisco a city which people will want to visit. That's all right from the viewpoint of the possible visitor, but the McCarthy method will be something of a hardship on the decent people who have to live in the town.

It's hard to understand why they are called "joy" rides when so great a proportion of them ends in death.

After all, there is such a thing as real philanthropy, pure and untainted. A man died in New York last week, and after his death only was it discovered that he had given away $20,000,000 and left a will leaving $25,000,000 more to religious and educational institutions.

An English poet told a bankruptcy court that for eighteen months he had been living wholly off friends and money-lenders. A man with a nerve like that should come to America and sell gold mine stock.

Our experience is, that, as a successful home-seeker, the chestnut worm has all of 'em beaten to a "frazzle."

Even if but little, if any, credence was given the report of Roosevelt's death, it was not without its lesson. It showed how close Roosevelt is to the hearts of the people.

"Uncle John" Rockefeller has given a million to battle the hookworm and "Uncle Andy" Carnegie a million to fight pellagra. Go it, Andy! Keep it up, John. In time you may reach the hunger microbe.

Yet, we will confess that an appearance as a principal in a French trial should come as near qualifying one for a comedy part on the stage as would participation in a prize fight.

We don't wish Dr. Cook any hard luck, but, if finding his records at the top of Mt. McKinley is going to revive the old controversy, we hope he won't locate them.

Having felt the pulse of the nation, Dr. Taft believes he can write the proper prescription for what ails it.

At $1.19 a word it must appeal to Commander Peary that he made a mistake in connecting up with hyphens names like I-took-a-shoo.

Still, getting that $10,000,000 will bring mighty little solace to Mrs. Astor, if she is the kind of a woman she should be, for the unhappiness of her married life and the delusions of womanhood lost to her.

Coming in the wake of the Cook-Peary controversy, the Glavis-Pinchot-Ballinger dispute and right on the heels of a political campaign, Astronomer Pickering's statement that we will pass through the tail of Halley's comet in May has little terror for us, the professor having assured us that the tail is rarified gas.

Maybe Mr. Fairbanks' trip to the Far East was for the purpose of thawing them out before attempting to use a razor on them.

Mrs. Stetson is accused of doing injury to people by thinking violence against them, which recalls Mark Twain's "Roughing It" story of Sandwich Islanders praying their enemies to death

If we understand Senator Cummins correctly he doesn't intend to be frozen out of the Republican party, but proposes to make it warm for those who have been doing the wheel-horse stunt for many, many years. Senator Cummins has a dependable idea of the best source of advertising. Meanwhile the ultimate consumer is paying top notch prices to the Iowa producer and making its people the richest in the union.

"If all the business of the city of Marion is done as unreliably as the marking of sewer taps," remarked the man in the exploring trench to the listener on his way to the office this morning, "Dr. Seiter has a mighty serious case to tackle."

There is a very considerable influence in Marion that finds justification in holding aloof from industrial promotion until some scheme can be devised to find men for the hundreds of waiting jobs in Marion, skilled and unskilled.

"Peary is to get $1.20 a word for a North pole story," says the Toledo Blade. "Just think of writing two words and thereby earning enough money to buy a Thanksgiving turkey." Somebody must have cut the turkey prices up in the city on the Mellifluent Maurice.

The bureau of naval intelligence gives out the information that Germany, in the last year, has stepped from fourth to second place in the navies of the world. The United States has not lost its place in the international rating, but Germany has forged ahead and pushed France from second to fourth place. We can't avoid wondering what Germany has in mind. Her navy is not for defense, for Germany has the commanding military force of Europe. Little wonder that there is English fretting about Great Britain's security as mistress of the seas.

Finding of Judge Daniel Babst Is Received.

PLAINTIFF IS ALSO AWARDED ALIMONY

Mrs. Meredith Is To Have Custody of Child and Defendant Is To Pay Ten Dollars a Month for Its Support. Mrs. Meredith Gets $1,000 Alimony—Court Notes.

Judge Daniel Babst's order in the Meredith divorce case was received by County Clerk W. W. Klinefelter, Thursday. The plaintiff is awarded a decree of divorce from Z. Albert Meredith, custody of their child, for whose support he is to continue to pay $10 a month, and $1,000 alimony.

The defendant is also ordered to return to the plaintiff all her personal effects, which include diamonds valued at several hundred dollars, given to her by the defendant when they were married.

The court manifestly gave no credence to the husband's allegation of the wife's infidelity, and the decree is accepted as her vindication as well as the exoneration of others involved.

Luke A. Terry was granted a decree of divorce from California Terry by Judge W. E. Scofield, Thursday, on the ground of three years' wilful absence and gross neglect of duty.

P. W. HOLVERSTOTT PASSES TO ETERNITY

Death Comes to an Aged Resident, Thursday Night.

SPENDS ENTIRE LIFE IN MARION COUNTY

Retires from Farm a Number of Years Ago and Passes Last Days as a Resident of Marion—Held in High Esteem by a Wide Circle of Friends in the County.

Peter W. Holverstott, seventy-eight years of age, a life-long resident of Marion county, died of heart disease, shortly before 12 o'clock Thursday night, at his home, No. 749 east Center street. Dr. L. O. Hamilton, the attending physician, states that his death was indirectly due to shock and injuries sustained about two years ago when he was struck by a street car. Since that accident he has been ill.

Mr. Holverstott was born in Claridon township and was the fifth son of Henry and Margaret Betzler Holverstott. He remained on his father's farm until a young man, obtaining his education in the common schools. For thirty-two years he gave his personal attention to farming and stock-raising.

Mr. Holverstott attributed his long life, and good health, up until he was hurt, to his regular and temperate habits. He had never used tobacco in any form and never set foot in a saloon. He retired at a certain hour and arose at a certain hour.

In April, 1891, Mr. Holverstott retired from his magnificent farm of 300 acres in Claridon township and moved to Marion, where he has since resided. A Republican in politics, he had frequently served as township trustee and in other local offices. He was known for his probity both in public and private life.

October 30, 1854, Mr. Holverstott was married to Miss Adelia Kilbourn, who died in August, 1890, at the age of fifty-five years. Later he was united in marriage to Mrs. Marietta Brandt, of Fairfield county, who survives him. To the first union five children were born, two of whom survive. They are Clarence K. Holverstott, of Pittsburg, and Mrs James W. Kennedy, of Big Island township.

Mr. Holverstott was a member of the Free Baptist church practically all his life.

A CURE FOR CANCER IS DISCOVERED

Such Is the Announcement Made at Columbia University.

New York, Nov. 11.—Physicians are much interested today in the announcement that a cancer cure has been discovered at Columbia university and that the physicians connected with the Rockefeller institute for medical research believe it will prove efficacious. The physicians all refuse to discuss the report, even withholding the name of the physician or physicians who made the discovery. It is said, however, that the cure has not yet been tried on human beings though it has been used with great success on animals that were innoculated with cancer. Medical men declare that science can not accept on face value any cancer cure until five years have elapsed and there has been no return of the cancer. Obviously, experiments which began two years ago, therefore, can not be completed, and for that reason no official announcement of the cure has or will be forthcoming.

TO WAGE CAMPAIGN AGAINST BLINDNESS

Is the Plan of Ohio State Commission.

Columbus, O., Nov. 11.—A campaign of education for the prevention of blindness is to be started November 18 by the state commission for the investigation of blindness, its causes, etc.

On that date, Superintendent F. F. Campbell, of the Massachusetts commission for the blind's industrial work, will begin a lecture tour of the principal cities and towns of the state. His subject will be "The needlessly blind." It will be illustrated with stereopticon views and will point out how much of the blindness of the present could have been prevented and how it may be prevented in the future.

The members of the Ohio blind commission called upon Governor Harmon, who showed himself in full accord with them.

New Conception of Death.

Few indeed are the men and women of full age—say twenty-five—who have not yet contracted the malady that will kill them, according to that distinguished scientist and physician, Dr Felix Regnault, says Current Literature for October. Normally, as contemporary investigators are beginning to find out, it takes twenty years for a fatal malady to kill a patient. It may take thirty years. The popular impression is that a man may die suddenly or that he may only require a year to die or in six months. To be sure, a man may be killed or a child may die in a few months at the age of one year. But ordinarily speaking, all deaths are very slow indeed and about eighty-five per cent, of civilized adults are now stricken with a fatal disease. They do not know it. They may not suffer from it. In due time they will have their cases diagnosed as cancer, or as tuberculosis or diabetes or what not. But so inveterate are current misconceptions of the nature of death that the origin of the fatal malady—in time—will be miscalculated by from ten to thirty years.

In the case of human beings, death—barring accident—is nearly always caused by some specific malady. This malady is as likely as not to be cured—what is called "cured." The "cure," however, no matter how skillful the treatment or how slight the disease, has left a weakness behind it in some particular organ of the body. One of the organs is, if not prematurely worn out, at least so worn that its resisting powers are greatly diminished. All of us in this way when we have reached a certain age possess an organ that is much older than the rest of the physique. One day we shall die because of this organ. Even if we live to be old indeed, we shall not die of "old age," but of weakness of the lungs, or if the kidneys or of the liver or of the brain.—Topeka State Journal.

CHILD NOT DISTURBED BY RUNAWAY HORSE

Keeps Seat in Buggy and Is Not Frightened.

LITTLE ONE ESCAPES WITHOUT INJURY

Thrilling Experience of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Trout and Their Little One. Horse Makes a Wild Dash on Center Street—Is Caught Before Doing any Special Damage.

A horse running away, with the lines dragging, and a little girl in the buggy tightly clutching her seat to keep from falling out, comes within the category of being thrilling. But it wasn't a bit thrilling to Commissioner A. H. Trout's five-year-old daughter, who figured in just such a runaway, Tuesday afternoon about 4.30 o'clock. When the horse was stopped and the child was taken unharmed from the buggy, she was not in the least perturbed.

"What did you think when the horse was running off and nobody in the buggy with you?" asked the father after the excitement was over.

"Well, I 'ust taught some man'd stop him," said the little girl.

Mrs Trout and her little daughter had spent the afternoon at the home of Mrs Flora D. Tristram, on east Center street. After leaving the commissioners' office, Mr. Trout drove there to get them and go to their home east of the city. He got out of the buggy and placed the child upon the seat, when the horse started off. Mrs Trout screamed for her husband to save the baby and the father made a lunge for the lines, but could not get them He then tried to get into the buggy to grab the child, but was caught between the wheels and hurled to one side. He then ran after the horse, but was soon distanced.

A Merchant saw the running horse and the child in the buggy. He cried to two men on bicycles to get off and stop the runaway. The bicycle riders leaped from their wheels and caught the horse by the bridle, finally bringing the animal to a stop. Almost exhausted from running several block, the anxious father soon arrived, to find his daughter the least excited of all.

DEALERS ARE LIABLE FOR THE AIKEN TAX

A Decision of the Circuit Court in Portsmouth Puts "Near-Beer" in the List of Prohibited Beverages in Dry Territory—Court Says It Is an Intoxicant.

Following a decision of the circuit court of the Fourth district sitting at Portsmouth, that sellers of near-beer are liable for the Aiken tax in dry territory, Marion dealers are now fearful that they be put on the duplicate for the heavy license. The sale of it may be discontinued here entirely.

The circuit court's decision upholds the contention made by the attorneys for the Marion County Law and Order league, in a number of cases, that near-beer is an intoxicant and therefore that it is unlawful to sell it in dry counties.

There has been a belief among dealers in "soft" drinks that so long as the latter contained less than one-half of one per cent of alcohol, the dealers were exempt from taxation, and immune from prosecution.

In giving out the opinion of the court, Judge Festus Walters declared that, no matter what the percentage of alcohol held in solution in a malt beverage, it is still a malt liquor, and therefore its sale is prohibited in dry territory. Certain dealers in "temperance beers" were arrested in Portsmouth and fined by Judge A. Z. Blair, an appeal being taken from his decision.

Judge Walters holds that the constitution of Ohio does not legalize the liquor traffic and that the Rose law expressly forbids the sale of liquor in dry counties. That law is constitutional under the police power of the state to regulate the traffic. He quoted a decision of the auditor of state compelling a Dayton dealer in near-beer to pay the Aiken tax, the supreme court having ruled that the matter of alcohol percentage had no bearing upon malt beverages.

Final Hearing.

The final hearing on the Hecker tile ditch in Waldo township was held by the county commissioners, Tuesday afternoon. The ditch will be sold, October 20, at 2 o'clock, at the office of County Surveyor E. S. Ault.

Hunting or trespassing on my farm just west of Green Camp is forbidden and violators will be prosecuted. Mrs. Gottleib Keller.

THREE AUTOS FIGURE IN SLIGHT ACCIDENT

A Small Car Caught Between Two Ones.

Failure of a clutch to work caused a slight automobile accident, in which three cars loaded with Marion Elks returning home from a banquet at Mt. Gilead figured, Tuesday night, four miles east of the city, on the Mt. Vernon pike.

A big car driven by Frank Disbennett had skidded off the pike on the mud road to the side. Claude Cook, who was driving a little Ford, started to go around just as Disbennett swung his machine back to the pike. Cook stopped within a foot of the car ahead, when a big auto driven by Walter Martin crashed into the rear. Martin was unable to halt his car because of his clutch failing to work. The little Ford machine was wedged between the two big cars with terrific force and William T. Blue and Harry Waggoner, Cook's passengers, were severely shaken up, but not hurt. All three machines were considerably damaged, however, but repairs were made and the trip made to Marion without further accident

THE MARION FANCIERS WILL GIVE EXHIBITION

A Big Poultry Show Is Planned for November.

FULLY 1,000 BIRDS WILL BE EXHIBITED

Some Fine Premiums Are Being Offered and Fanciers from All Parts of the United States Are Manifesting Interest—Show Will Be Given in Rink Building.

The Marion Fanciers' company is making preparations for one of the most successful poultry exhibits in the history of the city. It will be given November 30 and December 1, 2 and 3.

The company it will be remembered was incorporated by a number of local fanciers some time ago and they are taking the greatest interest in making the show the best of the season in central Ohio.

Inquiries in regard to the exhibition are coming by the hundreds from all quarters of the country, and it is estimated that at least 1,000 birds will be entered for the premiums which are well worth considering. Premium lists are being sent out to all making inquiry.

The skating rink building has been rented for the week and every provision for the comfortable accommodation of the patrons will be made. Special lighting will be put in that the displays may be made to the best advantage.

Charles McClave, formerly president of the American Poultry association and regarded one of the best judges of such stock in the United States, will do the judging.

As this is one of the very first shows of the season in this part of the United States it is arousing more interest perhaps than it would if given later in the season. That the birds entered will also be fresh and attractive is also assured.

ARRANGING FOR COMING SHOW

Corn Improvement People Hold a Meeting.

The Marion County Corn Improvement association met in the room under the Marion County bank Tuesday evening. There was a large attendance.

Considerable business was transacted. The committee appointed for selecting premiums for the coming show, gave a report of its work which is almost completed, and announced that the premium list will be issued in about a week. It was decided to offer premiums on grain, vegetables, pumpkins, etc, as well as corn.

The corn will be sold at auction on the last day of the show.

The prospects are very good for a large show this year and much interest is being displayed by the farmers.

The next meeting of the society will be held in two weeks.

PLANNING TO BUILD AUTO DELIVERY CARS

The Hatfield Company Being Organized Here.

COMPANY TO START VERY MODESTLY

A Thirty Thousand Dollar Corporation Mainly Subscribed to Wednesday, with Intentions of Enlarging If Expections Are Met in the Hatfield Machine.

A representative meeting of business men was held at the Commercial club-house, Tuesday night, to consider pending industrial propositions and a new interurban proposal. It was rather too big a calendar to clean up thoroughly in one meeting.

Colonel G. B. Christian presided and first introduced the proposed interurban project from Marion to Upper Sandusky, a line which, when extended to Fostoria, will close the gap between Columbus and Toledo Marion is asked to subscribe to $35,000 of the proposed bond issue, payable when the road is in operation. The matter was thought of favorably, and a committee appointed to solicit the bond subscriptions.

The invitation of Mt. Gilead business men to join them in a meeting to promote a Marion and Mt. Gilead line was voted an acceptance,

Then the Hatfield automobile matter was taken up. The Hatfields have an automobile designed for delivery car service that is believed to possess exceptional merits, can be sold at less than prevailing cars for like cars, and still make an attractive profit to the manufacturer. After extended discussion a start was made to organize the needed company to start the industry. The Hatfield Automobile company is to be organized with a present capital of $30,000, to be increased to $75,000 as soon as the developed industry demands it. Two-thirds of the sum was informally subscribed Tuesday night, and the work was continued. It was expected to complete the subscriptions Wednesday, and start things moving toward the production of twenty-five delivery cars. The market is said to demand such a popular priced, dependable machine, and the patentees think this is but the beginning of a mighty industry in Marion.

The Hatfield is a two-cylinder, air-cooled, solid tire, sixteen-horsepower machine, capable of carrying a half ton of weight, and will sell for about $650. The trial car, in demonstration here, has won decided favor, and many of the men giving their time to the promotion of the new company think it has greater possibilities than the Overland works, which failed to come this way last spring.

POLICE COURT

Tuesday afternoon Chief Cornwell swore to an affidavit in the mayor's court for a warrant to search the wagon repair shop of John Seitz located in the alley just off Church street at the rear of the Masonic temple. The warrant was served about 4 o'clock by Captain Pond and Officer Pell. The wagon shop was thoroughly searched and two quart bottles of whisky and a quart bottle nearly full of gin was found in a chest in the shop.

The place has been under the surveillance of the police for some time and it was thought that Seitz was doing some illicit business. Men were often seen coming from the place wiping their mustaches as if they had just had a drink and also some women of a questionable character have been seen coming out of the shop. It was this fact that led to the search being made.

As a result of the finding of the wet goods Chief Cornwell filed an affidavit against Seitz charging him with keeping a place where intoxicating liquors are sold kept for sale and furnished. Seitz was arraigned before the mayor Tuesday afternoon and pleaded not guilty to the charge. His hearing was set for Wednesday at 1 o'clock but that morning he appeared and changed his plea to guilty. He was fined $ 0 and the costs in the case.

ABEL & COONROD ARE DEFENDANTS IN SUIT

H. A. Oberlander Seeks To Oust the Firm.

CLAIMS VIOLATION OF LEASE TERMS

Plaintiff Says Members of the Firm Permit Gambling and Keep Place Where Intoxicants Are Sold Contrary to Law—Says Lease Is Forfeited by Such Actions.

A suit in forcible detention brought by Henry A. Oberlander, of Bucyrus, with a view to ejecting Abel & Coonrod, as proprietors of the Palm cafe, from the building owned by the plaintiff, located at No. 124 east Center street, this city, was tried before a jury in the court of Mayor Thoms A Gruber, at Caledonia, Thursday afternoon.

In his complaint filed through Attorney John H. Clark several days ago in Mayor Gruber's court, Mr. Oberlander charges the defendants with having violated their lease, alleging that they have permitted gambling and maintained a place where intoxicating liquors are sold in dry territory. This alleged violation of the law, he claims, works a forfeiture of the lease, which will not expire for three years.

The law firm of Mouser & Mooney, of this city, represent the defendants, and the action of the property-owner was hotly contested. Each side called a number of witnesses.

The filing of the suit at Caledonia is a sequel to the failure of the plaintiff to oust Abel & Coonrod by a complaint in forcible detention brought by him last August in the court of Justice Charles H. Conley, when a jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendants. At that time Mr Oberlander set up that the occupants of his building had failed to pay the rent following a fire, which practically gutted the place, and had in consequence violated the terms of their lease.

Attorneys for the defendants maintained that their clients were ready and willing to pay the rent and reopen their place of business whenever the room was repaired by the owner, with the result that the jury found for the defendants

The case was submitted to the jury, at 11:30 o'clock Thursday night, and a verdict for the defendants was returned at 3.30 Friday morning.

WARNER & EDWARDS.

Mr. Taft is satisfied with the tariff situation. The present bill will remain as it is going has been of office at least, no matter what the Western members of his own party or the Democrats may think or say. The presidential approval has been set on the Aldrich-Payne measure, and it will not be made a problem to further trouble congress.

What It Will Advocate.

The first Taft message to a regular session of congress will advocate postal savings bank; a ship subsidy, whereby an American merchant marine shall be created; new powers to the Interstate Commerce commission whereby railway rates and other problems can be settled and the decrees enforced; a simplified form of currency and all of the other matters that he has touched on in his present trip. There will be no startling innovations in the Taft message. It will not be a Roosevelt document, but will inexpensive the views which the president has already given utterances to on the stump.

The president is not believed to have been so much impressed by his trip down the Mississippi river that he will champion the waterways from the lakes-to-the-gulf program to the vigor that the advocates of the scheme hope for. He still favors a bond issue to meet any expenditures of this kind that may become necessary, but the spectacle of many of the steamers going aground on the sandy shifting sand banks is cited to cause him to insist on planned expenditures until inventive genius shall devise a way whereby a deep water channel, once dug, can be protected. His admonition to the advocates of the project that he did not believe in "pouring" water down a rat hole" is declared today to be in position on the problem.

43,000-Mile Trip.

The Taft tour, which will end today, has carried the president over 12,759 miles by rail and river, by six hundred miles by automobile and possibly 100 by stage or other horse-drawn vehicle it has cost the United States $20,000, which will come out of the fund appropriated by congress for his traveling expenses. The chief executive has made upward of 300 speeches from pulpits, rear platforms of his train, in every conceivable form of auditorium and open air.

The cost in the various localities at have "entertained" him is very large. A conservative estimate is $5,000, and for the little entertainment at Juarez, where he was the guest of the president of Mexico, the bill for that "little dinner" is declared to have been half a million.

Ten, fifteen and twenty dollars a plate were charged those who sat through the various formal dinners that were given in honor of the visit of the president, while out at Los Angeles they struck the record figure of $25 an individual.

Ballinger Says the Statement of Glavis Has Gained Nothing Either as to Veracity or Justification Since Its Presentation to Taft and in View of Ballinger's Vindication He Will Not Answer It.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Secretary of the Interior Ballinger this afternoon made the following statement to the United Press regarding the article by L. R. Glavis entitled "The Whitewashing of Ballinger," and which is to be published in this week's issue of Collier's.

"My attention has been directed to the text of an article purporting to have been written by Mr. L. R. Glavis which is to appear in Collier's Weekly and advance copies of which have been furnished by that weekly to the press.

"The Glavis story is a tissue of falsehoods and insinuations utterly unwarranted in view of the facts easily obtained by anybody who wants them.

"It is not surprising that a publication which could in pursuit of this same propaganda recklessly under date of October 30 reproduce a view appearing in a familiar railroad folder of the Grand River canyon in Colorado as a picture of an available power site which was in danger of unlawful acquisition on the South Platte river 200 miles away and across the continental divide, should be willing without the slightest effort to ascertain the real facts, to give wings to a story, which had heretofore been submitted to so great and just a man as the president of the United States who after a most careful consideration thereof in which he had before him the entire files of the general land office and of the secretary of the interior relating to each and every one of the matters presented pronounced the same disingenuous and without justification.

"The statement of Glavis has gained nothing either as to its veracity or justification in the interval since its presentation to the president and in view of the complete vindication by the president on myself and the other officers of the department concerned I will make no further statement at present."

HOUSE PARTY IS BEING ENTERTAINED

Made Up of Relatives and Close Personal Friends.

Receives Congratulatory Telegrams from All Over the World. Schools Closed in Honor of Event—Royal Salutes Fired in Garrison Towns — Tonight a Banquet to King's Tenantry.

London, Nov. 9.—While King Edward's sixty-eighth birthday was officially celebrated on coronation day, last June, the birthday itself is today, and his majesty is celebrating it on his own account at his private residence, Sandringham, Norfolk.

The Sandringham house party is very select and the festivities are on an extremely modest scale, among those attending are Queen Alexandra; the king's daughter, Queen Maud of Norway, and her little son, Prince Olaf; the Prince and Princess of Wales and their children, the Earl of Roseberry, Portuguese ambassador, Marquis De Soveral, who is a close personal friend of his majesty, and the Duke, Duchess, Princess Patricia and Prince Arthur of Connaught.

The counties of Norfolk and Suffolk, which consider themselves part of the royal domain, have closed their schools in honor of the event, and salutes were fired at sunrise in the garrison towns all over the empire, flags are flying everywhere and thousands of congratulatory telegrams from prominent men and women all over the world have been delivered at Sandringham. King Edward is fairly overwhelmed with friendly offers from the tenants and employes of his own estate, although court etiquette as a general rule prevents the presentation of gifts except from the members of the king's own family.

This morning at Sandringham there was a shooting party and tonight there will be a banquet to which the king has invited 600 of his farmers and farm hands. A theatrical performance will conclude the celebration.

3,000 ARE DEAD IN BIG BATTLE

Armies Led by Rival Princes in Abyssinia.

CONTEST IS WAGED OVER THREE DAYS

It Finally Ends in Victory for Prince Abate.

Empress Taitu Orders the Victor To Utterly Devastate the Entire Region Inhabitated by the Vanquished and To Massacre the Population — King Menelik Countermands the Order.

Cologne, Germany, Nov. 9.—The Cologne Gazette today prints the details of a battle between the forces of Prince Abate and Prince Abraha, minor Abyssinian rulers, in which over 3,000 were killed in seventy-five hours of fighting. The force of Abate was victorious and Abraha was captured.

While the battle was on, Empress Taitu, wife of King Menelik, prayed unceasingly for the success of Abate, secluding herself in the royal chapel where she knelt for hours with a heavy wooden cross on her shoulders. When Abate's victory was made known to her, she ordered the victorious prince to devastate the entire region inhabited by Abraha's supporters and to massacre the population. King Menelik, however, countermanded the order of the empress, and issued an edict of mercy.

Run Down by King.

Rome, Nov. 9.—An automobile, in which King Victor was riding, ran down a boy on a bicycle near Pisa. The youth was rendered unconscious, and, the king, jumping from the machine before it was brought to a stop, carried him into a nearby house and cared for the youth until the doctors arrived. The boy will recover.

Earthquake in Utah.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 9.—The city was shaken by an earthquake. The shock was slight, but was felt all over the city.

DEFIANCE HURLED TO THE GOVERNMENT

Action of a Standard Oil Subsidiary Company.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 9.—Defiance to the government was hurled by the Corn Products Refining company, owned by the Standard Oil, in the United States court, Monday, in their demurrer to the case of Uncle Sam against the firm, attorneys for the defendant attacked the constitutionality of the pure food act of June 30, 1906.

Some months ago, forty-six bags of sugar sent to the Gerke Brewing company were seized on the charge that they were mislabeled.

president rives refused to bring against me which I never had the opportunity to see or answer. The president states in his letter that I withheld from him information favorable to my superiors I do not know of any such information withheld by me, nor am I conscious of doing my superiors injustice. Nevertheless, I should not now make any public statement of the matter were it not still possible to save for the government many thousands of acres of coal lands which I believe the land office may in the near future grant to fraudulent claimants.

Coal Lands of Inestimable Value.

"The coal lands of Alaska owned by the government amount to over 100,000 acres. They are the future coal supply of the nation, of almost inestimable value. Possession of them by private individuals means great wealth. A monopoly of them would be a national menace.

"On Nov. 12, 1906, President Roosevelt withdrew all coal lands in Alaska from public entry, but previous to that time there were about 900 claims filed, covering about 100,000 acres, nearly the whole of the coal fields. The law attempts to prevent monopoly of such claims by limiting the amount of each claim and providing that each claimant must take up the land in his own interest and for his own use. This law has been interpreted by the supreme court of the United States to forbid speculating in coal lands before entry, either by dummy entrymen or by previous agreements to consolidate claims after entry. Of these claims in Alaska coal lands, among them the so-called Cunningham group, the majority are fraudulent. It is asserted that the Guggenheims are seeking a monopoly of the Alaska coal fields.

"As to the action of the land office on these claims, I assert that the land office has power to withhold patents to patent without due investigation when Commissioner Ballinger knew they were under suspicion; that the Commissioner Ballinger urged congress to pass a law which would validate fraudulent Alaska claims; that shortly after resigning from office he became attorney for the Cunningham group and other Alaska claims; that soon after he became attorney for the latter his office rendered a decision which would have validated all fraudulent Alaska claims. A reversal of that decision was obtained from Attorney General Wickersham.

How Glavis Was Dismissed.

"I assert that in the spring of 1909 the land office urged me to an early trial of these cases before the investigation was finished and when Secretary Ballinger, as the president has said, knew that the Cunningham claims were invalid. When I appealed to Secretary Ballinger for postponement he ordered me to his subordinates. The department of agriculture intervened. I was superseded in the charge of the cases, and the man who superseded me indorsed my recommendations, and the postponement was granted. Immediately there after I made my report on the Cunningham cases in President Taft and was dismissed from the service for

London, Nov. 9.—While King Edward's sixty-eighth birthday was officially celebrated on coronation day, last June, the birthday itself is today, and his majesty is celebrating it on his own account at his private residence, Sandringham, Norfolk.

The Sandringham house party is very select and the festivities are on an extremely modest scale, among those attending are Queen Alexandra; the king's daughter, Queen Maud of Norway, and her little son, Prince Olaf; the Prince and Princess of Wales and their children, the Earl of Roseberry, Portuguese ambassador, Marquis De Soveral, who is a close personal friend of his majesty, and the Duke, Duchess, Princess Patricia and Prince Arthur of Connaught.

The counties of Norfolk and Suffolk, which consider themselves part of the royal domain, have closed their schools in honor of the event, and salutes were fired at sunrise in the garrison towns all over the empire, flags are flying everywhere and thousands of congratulatory telegrams from prominent men and women all over the world have been delivered at Sandringham. King Edward is fairly overwhelmed with friendly offers from the tenants and employes of his own estate, although court etiquette as a general rule prevents the presentation of gifts except from the members of the king's own family.

This morning at Sandringham there was a shooting party and tonight there will be a banquet to which the king has invited 600 of his farmers and farm hands. A theatrical performance will conclude the celebration.

BROOKLYN FIRE CLAIMS VICTIMS

Dozen People Dead and Half as Many Injured,

RESULT OF BLAZE IN CELLULOID FACTORY

Escape by Fire-Escapes and Stairs Is Cut Off.

So Quickly Do the Flames Spread That Many of the Employes Do Not Take Time To Raise the Windows but Plunge Through the Glass—Firemen Driven Back by Many Explosions.

New York, Nov. 8.—Twelve persons lost their lives today when fire gutted the celluloid factory of Robert Morrison & Sons on Columbia street, Brooklyn. Six of these were caught like rats in a trap, behind barred windows on the ground floor and their frantic appeals for help and shrieks of agony when the fire finally reached them, could be heard for blocks. A dozen men, employed in the factory of Lehn & Fink, adjoining, vainly strove with bars and hammers to make a passage for the doomed six, but were finally driven off by the flames and smoke, only leaving the windows when their own clothing was ablaze.

The fire was one of the worst that the Brooklyn firemen have had to deal with for several years. Starting on the ground floor from some unknown cause it spread with such rapidity that it was impossible for any one in the building to escape by the stairs or fire-escape, and all of the workers on the top floors had to jump. In this way a number were badly injured.

The Known Injured.

Oliver Davis, Manhattan, cut and bruised and possibly internally injured from jumping out of a window.

William Bell, Manhattan, cut about face and arms.

Frank Ansano, twenty-two, badly burned and cut on the leg.

Raphael Croffo, twenty-two, feet and leg wrenched by jumping.

Unidentified man apparently about twenty-one, skull fractured by jumping.

Unidentified girl, eighteen, probably fatally burned.

Of the bodies recovered, but one has been identified. It is that of William Morrison, junior partner in the firm, and this identification was only possible through a half charred card found in the remnants of his coat. It is unlikely that any of the other eleven bodies which are now in the morgue will ever be identified as they are simply charred masses of flesh and bone. Robert Morrison, head of the firm, was frightfully burned and is in the hospital in a dying condition. His remaining son, Robert, Jr., jumped from a window and escaped.

A Wild Panic.

There was a wild panic, and many jumped from the windows without stopping to raise the sashes, being cut by flying glass and being hurt by striking the ground.

Three alarms were sounded, bringing all of the available fire apparatus in the district and Chief Croker from New York. The fire was a hard one to control as the celluloid exploded as the flames reached it, driving the firemen back from the burning building.

The work of getting the dead and injured out of the building called for desperate effort on the part of the firemen, and several of them were burned while doing so.

One of those who lost their lives is William Morrison, twenty-four years old, junior member of the firm of Morrison & Sons. Two other members of the firm, Robert Morrison, Sr., and Robert Morrison, Jr., were taken to the hospital. None of the other dead has been identified.

The fire was caused by an explosion of fibreloid, which the members of the firm were packing to fill a rush order. There is much nitroglycerine used in the manufacture of this stuff, and it is also highly inflammable. In some unknown way it exploded and within a minute the entire ground floor of the structure was a mass of flames.

On the upper floors forty-five men were at work and hardly one of them escaped without a burn or bruise. Within five minutes of the initial explosion the entire structure was a mass of flames.

FIRST FUNERAL HELD IN LEBAU

South Dakota Town Goes Fifty Years Without One.

Lebau, S. D., Nov. 8—Lebau, fifty years old, the oldest town in South Dakota on the Missouri river above Pierre, has had its first funeral.

Not a hearse nor carriages, but a dray truck and spring wagons and buggies made up the funeral cortege.

L. T. Perkins, who was accidentally killed here Wednesday when the automobile he was driving turned turtle will have his name on the first tombstone in Lebau's first cemetery.

While the citizens had not been desirous of starting a burial lot on account of past pride at its absence, the funeral was attended by almost everybody in this part of the country. There were some grown men who had never seen a funeral before, having lived here all their lives.

CORPSE IS FOUND BY STENOGRAPHER

Oklahoma Man Killed and Robbed in Office Building.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 8.—Ray D. Gannon, a wealthy real estate man, was murdered and robbed, his dead body being found by his stenographer, hanging from the roof of the Campbell building.

Gannon had been dead several hours, and the police are confronted with the most mysterious southwestern crime in recent years. A package containing $1,000 in currency which Gannon drew from a bank is missing.

After Gannon was beaten into insensibility, a noose was formed from a piece of rope and with the aid of a piece of iron the rope was twisted about his neck, almost severing his head. The secret service department is seeking a blonde woman with whom Gannon was seen on the streets here Saturday afternoon.

Gannon came here several years ago from Lexington, Ky., and was one of the leading real estate men of Oklahoma.

12,000 COAL MINERS ARE OUT ON STRIKE

A General Coal Famine Is Feared in Australia.

Sydney, Nov. 8.—Twelve thousand Australian coal miners went on strike today, demanding more wages and better hours. All other miners in the country are expected to follow their example and the tie-up promises to cause great loss to manufacturers and business generally.

It is believed that a general coal famine will ensue as the result of the strike, and will last until coal can be imported from Japan.

Thatcher Before Court.

Students Claim Victory.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 9.—The 400 boy and girl strikers who have left the West High school a practically deserted building since Wednesday, have returned to their studies. This decision followed a conference of the strikers' committee with the school board, and the children regard the result as a victory for them. A deputation of fathers and mothers appointed from the Parents' league, will appear before the school council to present in full the arguments against a double-session plan.

NAPOLEONIC TRIAL OF THIS WOMAN STIRS WHOLE WORLD

MME. STEINHEIL

Few persons in this country can read of the proceedings at the trial of Mme. Marguerite Steinheil in Paris without a feeling of pity for the woman. She is charged with having murdered her husband and his mother, and the trial is the most sensational that has been held in Paris since the Dreyfus affair. Under the Napoleonic code the court and lawyers may badger a prisoner at the bar almost at will, making statement and accusations concerning any episode in the accused one's past life, and they have not failed to do this in Mme. Steinheil's case. The examination of the woman was inquisitorial in the extreme.

THE ASTORS ARE DIVORCED TODAY

GIVEN THE CUSTODY OF HER DAUGHTER

The Son Is Given into Custody of the Father.

Neither of the Principals Appear in Court and All the Papers in the Case Are Placed Under the Seal of the Court That the Co-Respondent in the Case May Not Be Made Public.

New City, N. Y., Nov. 8.—Mrs. John Jacob Astor, the society leader, was granted an absolute divorce from her husband, John Jacob Astor, by Justice Mills in the supreme court here today. The papers in the case are ordered sealed.

The proceedings consumed less than one minute in open court, and it was plain that nothing had been left undone to prevent any of the details of the divorce action becoming known. Justice Mills was seated on the bench when Henry W. Taft, of the law firm of Strong & Cadwallader, of New York, appeared before him and handed over the desk a bundle of papers.

"I present the report of C. H. Young, appointed referee by this court to hear and determine the action of absolute divorce brought by Mrs. John Jacob Astor against her husband, Colonel John Jacob Astor, and ask that it be confirmed."

Justice Mills nodded. "I have read the report as filed with the court," he said, "and believe that it warrants the relief desired. You, Mr. Taft will draw the decree in favor of your client and I will sign it."

Under Seal of Court.

Mr. Taft bowed and stood as though waiting for something.

"Oh, yes," broke in the justice, "all of the papers in this case are hereby ordered placed under the seal of the court."

This brought a laugh from the few lawyers in the court-room.

Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Astor were in court when the decree was granted. All of the work had been taken care of by their attorneys and there was no hitch in the prearranged plan.

Who was named as co-respondent is not known and probably never will be, although there is a strong rumor that the affair was entirely arranged for and the co-respondent provided so that the persons who were considered at the outset of the action might be paid.

It is reported that Mrs. Astor received a lump sum of $10,000,000 in lieu of alimony and she will have the custody of their daughter while their son will remain with his father.

Florence Crittenton Mission To Tackle Cedar Point First.

Canton, O., Nov. 9.—The establishment of a mission for fallen girls at Cedar Point and at as many other summer resorts in the state as possible was decided upon by the Ohio Florence Crittenton Mission at its conference at the First Baptist church.

"The immorality of Cedar Point is appalling," said Rev. E. Lee Howard of Columbus, permanent member of the state organization. "Even the management of the resort realizes this and has contributed $100 toward the support of the proposed mission. I know of no place where a mission would be so useful as at such a resort as Cedar Point."

The naval mutiny which resulted in a battle between torpedo boats commanded by mutinous officers and several Greek warships has rendered King George's tenure of the throne of Greece even less secure than it was. The mutinous officers accuse the Military league of seeking to force the king to abdicate, but this is believed to be only an excuse for revolt against the ruling that has stopped promotions in the navy for five years. The Military league is in control, and its arbitrary action toward the navy and the army has embittered many loyalists as well as liberalists and added chaos to the political situation.

ROOSEVELT IN GOOD HEALTH

Mrs. Roosevelt Hears from Him by Cable.

HE HAS NOT MET WITH ACCIDENT

Official Wire, Today, Is to the Same Effect.

Neither Colonel Roosevelt Nor Kermit Have Been Ill—Not the Slightest Ground for the Report of the Death of the Former—It Is Said To Be a Lie Invented Outside British East African Protectorate.

Rome, Nov. 8.—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt today received a cable message from her husband, former President Roosevelt, dated Nairobi, stating that there is no truth in the rumors that he is ill or has met with an accident. He adds that he is perfectly well.

Lie Invented Outside.

Kin, British East Africa, Nov. 8.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt today wired the local government official and the United Press correspondent that both he and Kermit Roosevelt were in the best of health and that there was absolutely no foundation for the story that he had either met with an accident or been taken ill. The government agent at Nairobi characterizes the story of injury to the ex-president as "a lie invented outside of the protectorate." He has investigated all sources of communication with the outside world and finds that no such message was sent from the protectorate.

GOVERNMENT BONDS HIT THE TOBOGGAN

Decline and Treasury Deficiency Worry Officials.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Treasury officials are greatly worried over two events. One is the sale of government bonds below par in the last few days, which is the first time this has occurred since 1879. The other is the growing treasury deficit. Secretary MacVeagh will not return to Washington until next week. Up to this time he has given no indication of taking any action to bolster up the bond market. The Panama 2 per cent bonds have been sold as low as 99⅞, in the last few days, while the 2 per cents of 1930 were quoted at only 1⅛ above par.

At the treasury department it was explained that the sag in the bond market was due to heavy sales of blocks of bonds by the national banks. In the past the treasury department has from time to time taken steps to buoy up the price of bonds. Treasury officers are looking to congress to take some action to equalize the tax on bonds to secure circulation as between the 2 per cents and the 3 per cents. It is intimated that there will be no issue of 3 per cent Panama until after congress has an opportunity to act. In the meantime the possibility of an issue of certificates of indebtedness is hinted at, although it is admitted it will not be resorted to unless absolutely necessary to relieve the treasury situation.

Aldrich Determined To Reform Nation's Financial System.

St. Louis, Nov. 9.—With emphasis even stronger than that which he used in his Chicago speech, Senator Aldrich made it evident that it is his purpose to devote himself for the present with especial single-mindedness to the one work of reforming the currency system of the United States. He spoke briefly before a limited gathering of bankers at the Noonday club, and more fully in the presence of the full membership of the Commercial club. Senator Aldrich was received by both assemblages with manifestations of sympathetic interest.

BALLINGER IS ON DEFENSIVE

Explains Acts for Which He Is Criticized.

SAYS THAT HE IS MISREPRESENTED

Points Out That the Order of Predecessor,

Withdrawing Million and a Half Acres of Land from Entry Is Issued as an Emergency Measure and Is Not Intended To Be Permanent—Says That It Is Full of Inconsistencies.

Washington, Nov. 8.—Secretary of the Interior Richard A. Ballinger has replied to those cities who have endeavored to show that he was an enemy of the conservation policy inaugurated in the last federal administration. Mr. Ballinger has taken the ground heretofore that President Taft in his long review of the charges made by Special Agent Glavis of the land office, involving Mr. Ballinger, had exonerated the secretary of the interior in every way and no word from the latter was necessary in his own defense.

But Mr. Taft's statement giving Mr. Ballinger a clean bill of health did not serve to stop the attacks on Mr. Ballinger. In magazines and newspapers they have been renewed in a way to give rise to a suspicion that a concerted plan was being carried out to discredit the Taft administration with the supporters of Theodore Roosevelt.

Are Misrepresentations.

According to Mr. Ballinger, the verbal assaults made on him involve a mass of misrepresentation. He pointed out that the order of James A. Garfield, his predecessor in the interior department, withdrawing a million and a half-acres of public land from entry and settlement in order to protect water power sites within this vast area, had been issued under stress of emergency and was not intended to be permanent. Mr. Ballinger's action in restoring a large portion of this area to entry and settlement has been the basis for most of the accusations that he is an enemy of the conservation policy and is working in the interests of a water-power monopoly.

That Mr. Garfield's order was of such an emergency character and intended to be corrected, was Mr. Ballinger's deduction from several circumstances to which he called attention. One was that land from 30 to 36 miles from the streams of water sought to be protected had been withdrawn in several instances under the blanket order. Another thing pointed out by him was that portions of some streams were not withdrawn at all. It is obvious that had the order of Mr. Garfield been prepared carefully these portions would have been included for the purpose of protecting power sites.

BARON LIANG AND PARTY HERE TO INVEST $20,000,000 IN SHIPS AND GUNS FOR CHINA

The most important event bearing upon the open-door policy in China is the arrival in San Francisco of a commission headed by Baron Liang, son of Liang Cheng, former minister to the United States. The commission comes on a tour of inspection of all the shipyards and arms factories of the United States, and on the results will depend the placing of contracts for several more modern battleships and a vast number of big guns for strengthening her coast defenses. The broad increase and improvement of China's army, together with the purchase of war munitions, point more conclusively to the much-talked-of 'awakening' than anything else. Similar commissions of inspection have been sent out to other countries, and all the markets of the world are to enter a permanent business input as soon as these contracts are let. Baron Liang is one of the most highly educated men in the Orient. The members of his suite are all prominent in the affairs of the empire. He was selected to this country by Wang Chen of the Chinese foreign office and Captain Charles J. Ettl, artillery instructor to the imperial Chinese army. These men, with the prominent officials who arrived with the baron, will accompany him on his tour.

BREAKS DOWN AND CONFESSES

Receiving Teller Is $28,900 Short in His Accounts.

Columbus, O., Nov. 9.—Through an intricate system of defalcation covering a period of two years, Grayson H. Osborne, fifty-five, receiving teller of the Huntington National bank embezzled money which led to his arrest by United States authorities late Monday night.

The affidavit upon which he was bound over by Commissioner A. H. Johnson, charges the embezzlement of $7,000. Bank officials stated this afternoon, following a careful examination of the books, that the total of his peculations would reach $28,900.

When confronted with the charge, in the president's private office, he strenuously denied knowledge of any shortage. His defense was gradually broken down, until he confessed and astounded the bank officials with a statement of its full extent.

Admits Robbing Store.

Newark, O., Nov. 9.—John "Dutch" Miller was arrested by a squad of police and locked upon the charge of investigation. He confessed that he and another fellow known as "Dutch" burglarized the VanDorn & Faher store at Pataskala. He was caught with the goods on.

considerable sums of money on the way to the local treasurer from station agents and others, which have not been received by him. It was by including in this item the money which he had stolen that he was enabled to conceal his defalcations."

Will Be Prosecuted.

What mystery deeper than the single fact of the defalcation of a sum of almost unbelievable magnitude underlies the case has not been probed. What railroad secret Warriner knows, if he knows anything of import has, of course, not been divulged.

The remarkable case may soon center in the office of Prosecutor Henry Hunt, of Cincinnati. He has the full power to probe now. Warriner has been bound over to the grand jury by his own waiver of examination, and the grand jury is now in session.

Attorney Goldsmith, for the Big Four, today challenged the statement that Warriner will never be prosecuted to the bitter end.

"That is a mistake," Goldsmith said. "Warriner will be prosecuted to the fullest."

A statement will be issued by Warriner through his attorneys, Robinson & Bayless, probably today. The statement of the man accused of looting a railroad of nearly three-quarters of a million dollars will add to the sensations in the case.

WILL KEEP MATTER IN MIND OF THE PUBLIC

Garfield Has a Schedule of Future Speeches.

ONE OF PRINCIPALS IN THE CONTROVERSY

Garfield's Name Is Linked with Those of Roosevelt and Pinchot in the Conservation Policies That Have Recently Been the Subject of Great Deal of Talk in Country.

Cleveland, O, Nov 9—That the Roosevelt-Garfield-Pinchot conservation policies may not pass from the public mind with the elaborate defense outlined by Secretary of the Interior Ballinger, is indicated by a schedule of speeches announced by former Secretary James Rudolph Garfield, one of the principals to the controversy

November 16, Mr Garfield will address the American Civic association at Cincinnati on the subject of Conservation of National Resources The next evening he will talk on the same subject before the Milwaukee Merchants and Manufacturers association December 29, he will address the Nebraska State Par association on the 'Executive Power and the Public Interest' and on the last evening of the month he will speak before the Oklahoma State Teachers association at Oklahoma City on 'Civil Service Under the Roosevelt Administration'

Although former Secretary Garfield's series of addresses has no direct bearing upon the current controversy over the alleged breach of Roosevelt's conservation program it followed his refusal to comment upon the last statement of Secretary Ballinger that he had not reversed the Roosevelt-Garfield policies but that he had done what Mr Garfield himself had done'

"I can not talk of the matter until I have seen the entire statement made by Mr Ballinger, and I have sent to Washington for such a copy,' said the former secretary 'I am also having various withdrawals and restrictions checked up but this is merely for my own information Many of them I can not tell what I might have done with regard to any land until I know exactly what land is involved and the circumstances surrounding it"

DECISIONS BY THE SUPREME COURT

Wet and Dry Case from Putnam County Is Decided.

Columbus, O, Nov 9—The supreme court today affirmed the Knox county circuit court in declaring property of Kenyon college exempt from taxation notwithstanding it is not used directly for college purposes

The supreme court today held that an attorney can not act as a notary public in verifying affidavits of his client

Circuit courts can not compel by mandamus writs probate courts to transfer cases issuing local option elections to the common pleas court The circuit court of Putnam county had mandamused the probate court to certify the Rose law election contest to the common pleas court Reviewing that case, the supreme court today held that as the circuit court had not the power of such mandamus its decision should not be affirmed but as the case in question has already been certified to the common pleas court the supreme court said the reversal of the circuit court ruling would be unavailing and hence Probate Judge Heidelbaugh's petition in error was dismissed This decision does not affect the merits of the Putnam county contest now pending in the common pleas court of that county The case there involves the right of election officers to correct the returns It is claimed enough wet votes were counted as dry by mistake to have changed the result from 'dry' to 'wet' in that county

A CONQUEROR IN CHAINS

By William T. Ellis

The International Sunday-School Lesson for November 14 Is "Paul a Prisoner in Rome" Acts 28 11-31.

There is always a way out No human soul is ever utterly hemmed in by troubles Deliverance is God's program for his distraught friends He is pledged to make a way of escape Sometimes the way to Rome—or any other goal—is devious and beset by difficulties It may lead through Jerusalem mobs, corrupt Cæsarean courts, shipwrecks on the Mediterranean and three months on Malta The journey may be personally conducted by the military power of imperial Rome and a chain may link the traveler to a soldier of the legion But the arrival at Rome is certain The goal is sure

A fierce Northeaster had lashed Paul and the other two hundred and seventy-five members of the ship's company on Malta's shores What a storm that was How helpless was the city of all conquering Rome when Jehovah opened his fist and let loose his winds! It must have seemed to the pilot as if all the other winds of heaven had gone out of business for themselves and had been merged into the deadly Northeaster Their personal experience had made them pessimists even as some people think that the whole world is encircled only by the Northeast winds or trouble But the gentle South winds rose in due season to beat the shipwrecked sailors away from the island where they had spent three months There is always a South wind While the Northeast winds are howling most fiercely it is well to remember that God's good South wind is on the way There's a rude time coming Here was the optimistic Paul interpretation of his experiences as he wrote to his friends in Philippi Now I would have you know, brethren, that the things which happened unto me have fallen out rather unto the progress of the gospel' That's another way of expressing this lesson's deepest life-message All things work together for good to them that love God

Over Stormed Waters

Let me stand at the prow of the Twin Brothers, above the images of Castor and Pollux and perhaps with the little missionary whose slight frame makes us think he is all soul standing beside us, sheltered from the Mediterranean winds by a cloak given him by a grateful Maltese, we shall see much to stir our imagination Over sapphire seas sparkling in the sunlight, with the salt air blowing in our faces we come to Syracuse Here we have three days to traverse the historic city, with its memories of Dionysius the Tyrant, in whom our author companion Luke is especially interested

A short journey away reached, however, only after good seamanship we come to the city of Rhegium the entrance to the storied strait Here Scylla and Charybdis lie in wait for the unwary ship Paul had his own thoughts of the famous events connected with this region, he could not know that twenty centuries later a world civilization unsurpassed by him would be anguished by the overthrow by earthquake of this one Rhegium, afterward to be called Reggio, and of the city of Messina, across the narrow neck of water A day in Rhegium, and then we attempt the hazardous journey through the strait As we pass successfully, we see in imagination many famous wrecks along the rocks

Toward the beautiful blue of the Bay of Naples although Paul knew it as the Bay of Puteoli, the Alexandrian Troth is directing a steady course Vesuvius waved his sulphurous plume above the horizon, beautiful but ominous Here we see Pompeii, in all its Roman luxuriousness, idling away in voluptuous wickedness the beautiful days, unwarned of the disaster which was to overtake it within ten years burying beneath the ashes of Vesuvius a record of its life that should be hidden for seventeen centuries Even Luke's statement of the presence of Christians in the vicinity is confirmed by inscriptions dug up here Seven days of sweet fellowship with the disciples at Puteoli were spent by Paul before proceeding to Rome by land

The Lesson Without Customs

The present-day traveler along the Appian Way will have his imagination from midships fired Everywhere are relics of a glorious past century long dead rise up to whisper to us from their tombs messages which quicken the pulse and hasten the heart Those were high-way once to filled with swinging Roman legions Here by some bronzed Christian sons with the confident step of victors from conquests over the whole known world Triumphal procession too with chained captives at the conqueror's chariot wheels Contrast to be splendor of the legions come rolling along amidst the hosts of the holiday-making populace Ah, what a pageant is in his heart as his name 'Appian Way' comes to us!

Chiefly though our present-day traveler will muse upon the greatest leader that ever traversed this famous road—and he wore a chain I found myself saying as myriads of others have done This ruin was a building when Paul passed here The apostle saw this monument just as I see it today So the imagination runs to a vision of the little company of Christians that journeyed from the city out to the market of Appius and to the Three Taverns to welcome the great teacher who was coming to them a prisoner Then we see those other legions of Christians wearing no armor save of the spirit whose tread grows louder on the road to Rome, as the tramp of the legions grows fainter Paul saw the vanguard of this army of conquest and he thanked God and took courage

Rome at Last

Rome was a long time in being attained but at last Paul found it and his heart's desire He had a peculiar ambition to see Rome and a joy in its prison He seems to roll the world under his tongue as it were Paul, a prisoner of Jesus Christ He wears it as a nobleman wears a royal decoration He comes near to boasting over it Whether he ever appeared before Cæsar or not we do not know, that matter little the more important honor to Paul's way of thinking, was that he was the prisoner of Christ Jesus

Great days were those in jail even though his jail was his own hired house Once a soldier was even chained to his wrist, but that was God's way of bringing the whole world to Paul's side Each new soldier was a new opportunity Doubtless he won most of them for his Master and tradition says that it was one of these that first carried the gospel to Britain Assuredly by that route the good news found its way into the Pretorian guard Then there were the sweet confidences with fellow Christians the arguments with the Jews, and the outbreak through the written word It was in his Roman jail at this time that Paul wrote four of his letters to Philemon Ephesians, Colossians and Philippians

A Prisoner-Preacher.

A first qualification for any great and enduring service of the world is a keen sense of justice Paul was a protagonist of Christianity, but he was first of all a champion of the truth He cared more for honor and right than for any cause Many representatives of organized interest look for these first even though justice be sacrificed There is a tonic value in a study of Paul's course as a witness to the truth Note this in his interviews with the Jews in his hired house in Rome

The last record we have of this dauntless soul portrays him teaching the things concerning the Lord Jesus Christ with all boldness He seems to have had a solicitude less taught should interfere with his "free utterance" he entreated his friend at Ephesus to pray that he might speak boldly to the end That prayer was granted We know that although the book of the Acts ends here Paul was delivered out of the mouth of the lion for this time, that he resumed his missionary labors and that in a fresh outbreak against the Christians under Nero he was imprisoned again, and suffered martyrdom The dungeon in which he was confined is shown to this day His own thought as the end drew near is recorded in his last writing the second letter to his young friend Timothy, 'For I am already being poured out as a drink offering and the time of my departure is come I have fought the good fight I have finished the course, I have kept the faith"

FOLLOWING THE TRAIL OF THE GREAT COMET

Star Gazers Find Good Material for Study.

WHERE AND WHEN TO LOOK FOR THE COMET

The Celestial Prodigy Travels at the Rate of Twenty-Six Miles a Second An Electric Flash from Comet to Earth Would Require Five Hours in Its Transmission

Hard Article

It is one of the many triumphs of modern astronomy that it can track a comet when out of sight almost as well as when blazing its way among the stars before our very eyes. A comet is always found following one of three kinds of orbits and the observations on as many nights are all that are usually needed to determine in the astronomer's mind which orbit it is pursuing.

Great Comet of 1680, two years before Halley's

It is supposed that all comets come from a distance and were originally stationary. Where they came from and how they came to be no one knows. Coursing through space a comet comes within the sphere of our sun's attraction, turns out of its course to salute the sovereign of the solar system, wing about that body and flies back into space. Commonly its path is found to be either an hyperbola or a parabola, each an open curve, the two sides in the case of the former constantly diverging, in the case of the latter constantly approaching parallel line, but in neither case completing the curve. Such a comet will never return.

But a comet entering the solar system from a distance and following a parabolic path will be held by the sun's attraction, and, instead of sweeping around the sun and speeding away into space, will be compelled to move in a closed curve, an ellipse, and will return at regular intervals. Halley's comet, for example, has a period of seventy-six years, and it is expected to appear in the year 1910.

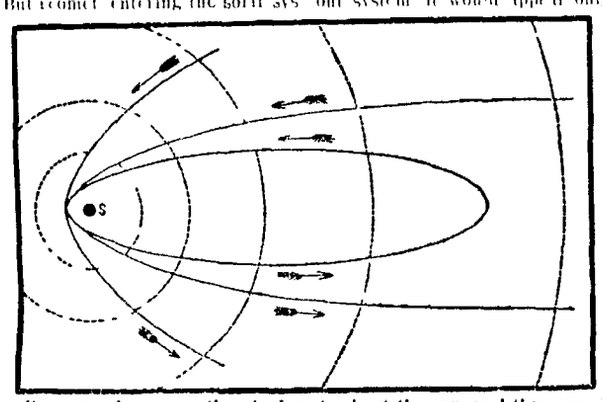

Diagram showing paths of planets about the sun, and three possible curves taken by comets, namely, outer, Hyperbola; middle, Parabola; inner, Ellipse, the latter alone closed, resulting in periodical return of a comet

A comet of such a curve must deplete its tail considerably or have its curve altered. If it would require five hours to travel the earth's distance of 93,000,000 miles from the sun the comet, coursing more swiftly than twenty-six miles a second, will keep to its hyperbola or parabola and never return. But if it drop below that speed under the influence of the new forces encountered in our solar system it will be tied up in an ellipse. This latter path may be described as a compressed or elongated circle.

It is in this way that comets are actually made prisoners by our planets and made to conform to the unbending,redundant of the ecliptic, instead of roaming the universe in the broad liberty of the hyperbola or parabola. Drawn into the attracting power of the sun they not infrequently have to pass near one or more of the planets. Once the attraction of the planet then slows down the comet, according to the familiar mark of twenty to a second at the earth, distance and gone forth the comet's orbit. The closed path of the ellipse will bring it back periodically, which is like unless the comet be in three and one-half years' hence the most distant visitor. Halley's comet in seventy-five years. Neptune, the most distant planet, is believed thus to have eight, and Halley's and five other, Uranus three, Saturn two and Jupiter about thirty. Hence its great size and power and the greater age of the comets' orbit to its own.

But there is every probability that a comet will fly in its orbit in a plane different from that of our earth. So it is with Halley's comet, whose orbit is inclined eighteen degrees to the ecliptic. Only as it crosses near the earth and the sun does it cut our plane. Far toward its space the path is constantly diverging until where the comet may be said to be passing perihelion it is not less than 70,000,000 miles from that planet—so far that it would cut its attraction no less than that of Mars and the earth impassions them. Or this account it is with difficulty that we believe that Neptune captured it unless its path has been subsequently altered. It is on this theory, however, that a great astronomical authority as M. Flammarion, the French astronomer, bases his statement for such a planet beyond Neptune. Inasmuch as the course of the comet of 1886 came to demand such a planet to account for its presence in the solar system as a periodical comet.

Could we ride the comet then approaching the sun nearer than Venus the orb of day would appear four times its size as seen in the earth sky, but retreating to a distance 90,000,000 miles farther than that to the most remote known planet of our system it would appear only a hard probably even of the greatest amount of brightness.

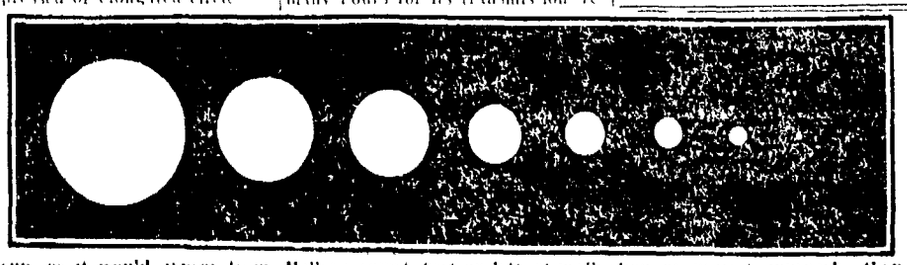
Any girl can make a man love her as long as she wants to.



The sun as it would appear from Halley's comet first on left at perihelion or nearest approach then at distances of Venus Earth Mars Jupiter Saturn Uranus and Neptune finally on right, at aphelion or greatest distance. [Drawn by the author.]

She was tested on complaint of her father Albert Osburn and taken to jail by Chief Probation Officer S. N. Titus Monday night.

THE NEXT CONVENTION OF THE REPUBLICANS

Independent and Free from All Influences

DELEGATES AND NOT LEADERS IN CHARGE

The Delegates Will Make the Nominations for the Next State Ticket Senator Dick Will Press His Claims for Reelection to the Senate Dick Talks Politics

Columbus, O. Nov. 9.—The Republican state convention next year will be the most independent—free from outside influences—witnessed in Ohio in many years and hence it is of little consequence what the leaders may determine upon in advance said United States Senator Charles Dick here Monday in response to a question concerning the call of the leaders holding a conference soon to determine who may be the most available men for the nominations for state offices.

Senator Dick is here in his capacity as major general of the Ohio National Guard whose officers are holding their annual session. He based his judgment that the delegates and not the leaders will nominate next year's ticket upon the fact that those delegates to the state convention will be chosen by county conventions whose delegates have been elected by direct vote of the people eliminating the county bosses from the slate making process.

Senator Dick reiterated that he will press his claims for reelection to the senate through the Ohio primary law saying. If the Republicans of the state do not want me to be a candidate for reelection I shall bow to their will but I want all the Republicans and not merely a few of them to decide this question.

Senator Dick announced that he and his friends will oppose any attempt that may be made in the Ohio general assembly at its January session to either repeal or modify the Brouson primary election law.

MAXWELL YOUNG IS CHARGED WITH THEFT

Arrested on Affidavit of Peter Neidig.

YOUNG TAKEN OFF CAR AT COLUMBUS

Stolen Diamonds Are Not Found on Him—He Is Brought Here Friday Night To Answer Charge—Two Men Arrested for Fighting—Notes of the Local Police Court.

Friday afternoon, P. H. Neidig filed an affidavit in the mayor's office charging Maxwell Young with the theft of three small diamonds belonging to his wife. It was learned that Young left the city during the afternoon for Columbus and the officers at that place were notified to be on the lookout for him. As a result, Young was taken off an interurban car at that place at 4:30 o'clock and Officer Bell went after the prisoner and brought him back to Marion, Friday night.

Young came to Marion a little over a week ago from Toledo and rented a room at the Neidig home on north State street. During his stay here, he worked a few days at the grocery of R. T. Lewis & Company. Friday morning, Maxwell remained at his rooming house, Mr. and Mrs. Neidig being absent from home during the morning. They returned for dinner and after dinner Neidig and Young walked up street together.

During the afternoon Mrs Neidig went to the bed where she had her valuables concealed and on raising a pillow to secure her rings, discovered they were gone. She informed her husband who then filed an affidavit against Young, charging him with the theft. One of the dresser drawers of the Neidig home had also been thoroughly ransacked. When arrested in Columbus, none of the jewelry was found on the person of Young and he had but forty cents in money.

Young was given a hearing before the mayor, Saturday afternoon, and pleaded not guilty to the charge against him. He proved that he was from a respectable family and that his conduct had always been of the right sort. As there was no evidence of his guilt, he was dismissed.

Grant Essex and Albert Martin, half brothers, who reside in the flat above the moving picture show on south Main street, were arrested, Friday afternoon, by Captain Bond and Officer Bell. Essex was intoxicated and as a result of a dispute with Martin at the rear of the flat, the men came to blows.

After being locked up, a charge of intoxication was filed against Essex and the latter filed an affidavit against Martin charging him with assault. When arraigned before the mayor, Essex pleaded guilty to the charge against him and was fined five dollars. Unable to pay the amount, he was committed to the prison. Martin pleaded not guilty to the charge filed against him by Essex and was held for a hearing.

At the hearing Martin was found guilty of the charge against him. He was fined $10 and sentenced to jail committed until the amount is paid. Having no money he was committed to his cell.

Mabel Messenger and Maggie Ward, the two women who pleaded guilty to a charge of indecent conduct and intoxication in the mayor's court, Saturday, were each fined $25. To avoid having to work out the amount in the workhouse, friends of the women raised the amounts of their fines and paid for their releases.

Charges were filed against John Roberts, Noah Dowell and Alvah Showers, the three men who had trouble over the women. Dowell claimed that Showers attacked he and Roberts with a knife while they were in the buggy with the women and as a result Dowell was badly cut in several places. An affidavit was filed against Showers charging him with cutting with intent to wound. He waived examination when arraigned before the mayor and was bound over to the grand jury. His bond was fixed at $300 and was furnished by his parents.

A charge of furnishing and giving away intoxicating drinks was filed against Roberts. When arraigned before the mayor he pleaded guilty and was fined $50 and the costs in the case. He paid the amount and was released. Dowell was charged with intoxication to which he pleaded guilty and was fined five dollars.

Showers claims that he was attacked by Dowell and Roberts came to the assistance of the latter. He also claims the women were not in the buggy and that he had not been to the home of the women previous to the assault.

Grover Mounts was taken off an interurban car from Bucyrus, Saturday night, by Officer Thompson and taken to the city prison. George Whysall later filed an affidavit against Mounts charging him with intoxication and disorderly conduct on the car. Mounts pleaded guilty to the charge against him and was fined five dollars and the costs in the case.

David Vestal filed an affidavit in the mayor's court, Sunday evening, for a warrant to search the place of Alfred Korte, of Hoyle street. Vestal claimed to possess the knowledge that Korte had sold whisky during the afternoon, and told the officers where they might be able to find the corn juice. The warrant was served by Captain Bond and Officers Wilhelm and Thompson. The place was thoroughly searched and that Vestal had received a bad tip was made evident by the failure of the officers to find any signs that Korte was violating the law.

The local police received a communication from the Delaware police department, Monday morning, stating that a barber shop had been entered at that place, Sunday night, and sixteen razors and two pairs of clippers taken. A description of some of the razors was given and it is thought the thieves will try and dispose of them in this vicinity.

Jacob E. Wick reported to the police, Saturday night, that his bicycle had been stolen and gave the officers a description of the wheel in the hope that they may be able to locate it.

Dode Chapman, who hails from Richwood, was taken off Erie train No. 47, early Sunday morning, on a charge of disorderly conduct and intoxication. Monday morning, William Pohler, night yardmaster, filed an affidavit against Chapman in the mayor's court. When arraigned before the mayor, Chapman pleaded guilty to the charge against him and was fined $10 and the costs in the case.

DEATH COMES AFTER VERY LONG ILLNESS

Mr. Culbertson Resides in Marion a Great Many Years—Is Born in Ireland of Scotch Parentage—Mrs. Culbertson Dies Seven Years Ago. Arrangements for Funeral.

James Culbertson, who was ninety-two years old August 1, died of the infirmities of age, Sunday morning at 11:45 o'clock, at his home, No. 234 west Church street, where he had resided continuously for the past forty-nine years. He was one of the city's best known residents.

Mr. Culbertson's people were Scotch, but he was born in the county of Tyrone, Ireland, where he followed farming until he came to Marion in 1850, his brother, William Culbertson, having preceded him ten years

January 31, 1860, Mr Culbertson was married to Miss Narcissus C. Haldeman, daughter of Henry Haldeman, who was then editor and proprietor of the Buckeye Eagle. Mrs. Culbertson will have been dead seven years last Wednesday, and her husband's funeral took place on the anniversary of her death. Mrs. Culbertson died between 1 and 2 o'clock and it was arranged to hold Mr. Culbertson's funeral at 2 o'clock at the late residence, Rev. George M. Rourke, of the First Presbyterian church, officiating.

Mr. Culbertson had been a Presbyterian practically ever since he came to Marion.

The deceased is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Grace Humphreys, and Miss Mary Culbertson, the latter now being enroute to India from Egypt in company with Mrs. Alice Harris, of this city. Harry W. Culbertson, a son, died in 1903.

Twenty years ago, Mr. Culbertson retired from active business. He was well known a quarter of a century ago as a building contractor and mason. He built the old Masonic block, on east Center street, and the Campbell and Bartram blocks on Main street. For many years he was associated in business with his brother, William.

UNIQUE SCHEME TO BEAT THE PEOPLE

Man Collects Commissions on Bogus Orders.

USES THE MAILS IN UNLAWFUL MANNER

The Story of a Nursery Company Which Proves Easy Picking for a Man Whose Real Name Is Not Disclosed—Federal Officers Are Expected To Act in Matter.

George A. Campfield, a representative of the Pontiac Nursery company with headquarters at Detroit, arrived in the city, Monday morning, with a view to investigating the actions of a man who gave the name of Samuel P. Burgess in securing a position with the company as a salesman.

According to the statements of Campfield, the man gave fictitious recommendations in securing the place. His contract called for the forwarding of commissions as soon as the company received orders for stock properly signed by the purchasers. Burgess sent in several orders and received in return commissions amounting to about twenty-five dollars. The company proceeded to deliver the stock, but developed the fact that every order was spurious and the names of the people signed to the orders were not of any persons residing in Marion or vicinity. The stock had been shipped here and Campfield came to try and locate the supposed Burgess and prosecute him.

An inquiry at the postoffice brought the information that the man is known to the postoffice people and has given trouble of the same character in the past. The local postoffice authorities are not at liberty to disclose the identity of the man, but it is quite certain that the federal authorities will take the matter in hand and cause his arrest for misuse of the mails.

ANOTHER BIG STOCK SHOW IS COMING

Annual Gathering of Stockmen in Chicago.

Once more the International Live stock exposition, which will be held in Chicago from November 27 to December 10, has accomplished the seemingly impossible by again showing a most phenomenal increase in entries. Once more all past records have been demolished and once more we are brought to realize that interest is growing in this, the leading exponent of the live stock industry and that this great annual event is becoming more popular from year to year. Even though feeding operations have been exceedingly light during the past year, we still find an increased number of entries in the cattle department. The draft horse exhibit will be the greatest ever seen in this or any other country. Horses, whose lineage dates back into the dark ages, will be seen in the ring beside the most splendid specimens of the English and Scottish breeds, whose equals have never before been brought together in such numbers in the history of the show ring. The number of exhibitors in the sheep department exceeds that of any previous year, and in quality their exhibits will far surpass anything ever seen here in the past, as the entries show them to contain some of the choicest importations made to this country in recent years. In the swine department all the leading types will again be represented and the quality will be superior to that of any show ever seen on this continent. All these and many other new features give promise of making the coming exposition the greatest in the history of this splendid series of events, and no one, be he ever so distantly connected with live stock—the right arm of our basic industry, agriculture—can afford to miss this exceptional opportunity for education, entertainment and a pleasure trip in one.

FINDLAY-MARION PROMOTERS MEET

A Move That May Result in Road's Construction.

The Ohio State Journal of Saturday says:

If the proposal submitted to the stockholders of the Findlay-Marion Railway & Light company, at a meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce building yesterday is favorably acted on, work of construction on the forty-six miles of track necessary to be built to connect Columbus and Toledo by traction line will be begun soon. New York capitalists are said to have signified their willingness to build the road and take up the bonds. They will organize a construction company for the purpose.

The estimated cost of the work is $1,250,000 and the capital stock of the company, which now stands at $250,000, probably will be increased to that figure before long. The road will be of standard construction and built over a private right of way. When the road was planned, just before the recent panic, traffic arrangements had been completed with the C., D. & M. for an entrance into Columbus and with the Toledo, Bowling Green & Southern for entrance into Toledo. Whether the present receivership of the C., D. & M will interfere with the program is for the future to determine.

At yesterday's meeting there were present interested men from Findlay, Cleveland, Detroit, Marion and Columbus. Columbus men interested include Dr. W. A. France, Colonel M A. Neil, John W. McCafferty, J. B Zimmer, M. C. Dickey and Garry W. Meeker. Another meeting will be held within ten days at which definite action on the proposal submitted yesterday will be taken

TIDE WATER PEOPLE LOCATING SUB-OFFICE

Marion To Have One of Company's Stations.

The Tide Water Pipe Line company, operating between the Illinois oil fields and Bayonne, New Jersey, is locating a sub-office in this city. The company began work this week to run a telegraph wire from the main line of the company, where it crosses the Hocking Valley railway, two miles south of town, to its office in the Johnson building on Mound street. This sub-wire will be run on the Hocking Valley telegraph poles to this city. The work will be in charge of Assistant Superintendent Charles Wolland.

These sub-stations are placed at intervals along the line with an operator in charge, to notify the main company's office in case of breakage or other trouble. Pump stations are also placed every ninety miles along the route.

The line was laid through this vicinity last February, at which time Archie Hickman, of Wheeling, West Virginia, suffered a severe accident to his eyes, near Byhalia Mr. Hickman, who now resides on north Prospect street, is slowly recovering his sight and his ultimate recovery is assured by his attending physicians, Dr. B. L. Milligan, of Cleveland, and Dr. James W. McMurray. He expects to be able to return to his work with the company by next spring.

If a man never has any use for a doctor he hasn't much of a kick coming.

COLONEL GEORGE R. COLTON, PORTO RICO'S NEW GOVERNOR

Colonel George R. Colton, the new governor of Porto Rico, will assume charge of his post on November 8. Colonel Colton has had a notably successful career in the service of the government. It was he who first took charge of the customs of Santo Domingo under the treaty between that country and the United States. When everything was running smoothly in Santo Domingo he was sent to the Philippines on the recommendation of Mr. Taft, who was then secretary of war. He had charge of the fiscal affairs of the islands and drafted the Philippine tariff, which was passed by the senate the same day as the Aldrich-Payne bill He succeeds Governor Post in Porto Rico, the latter having sent in his resignation some time ago.

ENGLISH BARONET'S WIFE, WHO ELOPED TO UNITED STATES

A domestic sensation of international importance will reveal its second chapter when Sir Morgan George Crofton arrives in England with his beautiful young wife, Lady Crofton, who ran away to America two months ago and was found by her husband in a New York hotel. On the same ship that took Lord and Lady Crofton back to England was James Douglas Montagu, of a prominent English family, who was with Lady Crofton when her husband found her in New York. It is believed that a reconciliation was reached before Lord and Lady Crofton sailed for home, but the case is certain to cause a sensation on the other side, where all the parties to the episode are prominent in English society.

AUTO TURNS TURTLE NORTHWEST OF LA RUE

The Machine Is in Charge of A L Hafer

ALL THE OCCUPANTS MORE OR LESS HURT

Auto Is Being Driven at a High Rate of Speed When Driver Tries To Pass Another Vehicle—Machine Skids and Turns Completely Over into a Ditch

A Ford automobile driven by A L Hafer turned turtle a mile north west of LaRue on the Kenton and LaRue pike, Saturday afternoon about o'clock injuring Mr Hafer and his four companions who were his wife and son Ira Mrs Victoria Clark and her daughter Mrs George W Parker The condition of none of the injured is serious however that no one was badly hurt or killed is regarded almost miraculous

Mrs Clark and her daughter had started to drive to town with the latters husband in a buggy when Mr Hafer came along in his machine He insisted that the two women ride to town with him The prospect of a auto ride was alluring, and both climbed into the car

When nearly within sight of La Rue Mr Hafer undertook to pass a slow rate of speed The machine skidded and turned turtle down in the ditch along the north side of the road

All of the occupants were pinned in Mr Hafers son escaped with a severe scalp wound while Mrs Clark right hip was wrenched the others were bruised The top of the machine had prevented all from being crushed

The injured people were taken to their home by Mr Hafer who had fellowed them in a buggy and two doctors were summoned to attend them

THE LODGE WORLD

The Eathern Star held an interesting meeting Monday evening and in the business transacted with Cumberland No 1 knights of Pythias will on Wednesday evening Mr Hafer thanked by the order for the kindness shown him during his illness

MACKEN & SMITH

We are as keenly interested in what others will think of the style and fit of every suit we sell as we are in personally pleasing the man who is to wear it.

With us, making sales is not the first consideration. Every customer must be fitted perfectly, and thoroughly pleased as to fabric and design before we consent to sell it. We never wittingly permit a suit of Macken & Smith clothes to pass out of our store that falls short of the 'perfect' mark—even in the smallest detail.

This "particular" attitude is winning the confidence, and with it the patronage, of "particular" dressers of Marion

THE OFFICERS MAKE GREAT MANY ARRESTS

Justice Gompf Records 480 Cases So Far

COAL THIEVES ARE VERY NUMEROUS

Some of the Men Arrested Are Caught with the Goods on Them They Are Found To Have Money with Which To Pay for Their Coal Some Have Coal Stored Away

Since going into office a year ago last January Justice Charles F Gompf had had from the officers of the Erie Railroad company alone 480 cases of coal stealing and illegal trespassing Only a comparatively few of these cases have ever been made public for various reasons The principal reason for suppressing the names of scores of those charged with stealing coal was due to their pleas to keep them out of the newspapers

In the majority of the 480 cases they were caught by detectives for the road in the act of stealing and they were arrested and pleaded guilty without delay

The record of arrests for these two offenses in Marion is said to eclipse that of any other town or city between New York City and Chicago

Some of those who were arrested had tons of coal stored away and they acknowledged that they had taken it from the Erie Others had only obtained a few lumps In most cases the men who stole the coal had jobs and could have bought their fuel but it seems were unable to resist the temptation to steal

Many thousands of dollars have been lost by the Erie in Marion by the wholesale theft of coal it is claimed The practice has now been about broken up but with the approach of winter the company expects another raid on their cars and unusual vigilance is being exercised by all detectives to catch any offenders

HOLDERS OF BONDS HAVE CONFERENCES

Demand Will Be Made for Interest on Bonds

Holders of the consolidation mortgage bonds of the Columbus Delaware & Marion Railway company have had several conferences and within a short time formal demand will be made upon the trustee of the bonds for the payment of the past due interest If the arrangements to pay this interest are not then made the bondholders have decided to bring legal proceedings It is said that a committee of stockholders is now at work on a plan by which the interest will be paid and when this is done the road will be turned over to the company it will be taken if the company is earning more money now at it is said than at any period in its history and the stockholders committee asserts that a reorganization plan which will protect both bondholders and stockholders can be carried out on showing now being made—Ohio State Journal
